THOSE who have had the privilege of compiling this Annual have endeavored to make it interesting alike to the prospective student, the alumnus, the friend of the College, the graduating Senior and the entering Freshman. To what extent we have been successful we leave you to judge.

The Nugget Board is particularly indebted to Mr. Thomas Hugg and Johnnie King, whose title page designs and cartoons add much to the appearance of the book. Both of these men have given of their time and talent absolutely without charge, because of their friendship for the editor and associate editor gained in service overseas.

The Football action pictures were taken by the Evening Telegraph staff photographer, and are used by permission of the Evening Telegraph.

COLORADO SPRINGS

IN THE GARDEN OF THE GODS

Nature decreed that there should be built at the foot of Pikes Peak, where mountain meets plain, a city which should be known far and wide because of its individuality and charm. Well might the Indian pay tribute—as the legend says he did—to the matchless climate and wonderful environs of the spot by establishing within the shadow of the “Great White Mountain” a zone of neutrality within which all tribes might come and go as they pleased.

In gratitude for the many blessings received by those who visited the region in search of health and recreation, the aborigines wished all peoples to know and to share freely in the benefits of this great natural resort. That same spirit of unselfishness and comity actuates the residents and visitors of today, as unchanged as are the effervescing springs, the sparkling sunshine or the other features composing the marvelous combination of natural elements and surroundings that have characterized the place from the beginning and brought it into world-wide fame.

When Colorado Springs was founded, one could ride four hundred miles straight eastward from Pikes Peak without seeing, except by chance, a fence or house, or any animal life save the wild roamers of the plains or still wilder Indians. Half a century has wrought many changes. Spread out on a sheltered plateau at the foot of the guardian hills there is now a unique community which has attracted the attention and admiration of the traveler, the nature-lover and the home-seeker.

Colorado Springs is widely known as “The City of Sunshine.” Official records covering a long period of years show an average of 310 days of sunshine annually, of which 181 are entirely cloudless. Almost exactly one-half of the days have the absolute maximum possible amount of sunshine. The average for the year is 70 per cent. of the possible, with only 11 days per year on which the sun is not visible. This abundance of sunshine is well distributed throughout the seasons, although the greatest amount comes in the fall and winter and the least in mid-summer.

It is probable that the Spaniards visited the Pikes Peak Region before the Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth Rock, and that the Indians had been coming here for a thousand years previously; but the wholly authentic recorded history of the region dates only from November 13, 1806. On that date Lieutenant Zebulon Montgomery Pike first caught sight of the “Great White Mountain” which today bears his name, and concerning which he wrote in his diary that “no human being could have ascended to its pinnacle.” Subsequently the locality was visited by numerous explorers. The first permanent settlement, Colorado City, was established logical completeness, where stalactite, stalagmite and many other rare and beautiful formations make of the cave a delight to the eye of the ordinary observer and a paradise for the geologist.

These are but a few of the many features immediately adjacent to Colorado Springs. It would be impossible to describe them all, even if space permitted. They must be discovered by the visitor himself; and in the finding he will develop that real love of nature which the residents of the Pikes Peak Region know. Within a short radius from Colorado Springs there are a half hundred nationally known scenic wonders, all easily accessible from the city. Here are the massive sandstone formations of the Garden of the Gods. Cripple Creek, the world's greatest gold mining camp, is but a few miles distant. Manitou, the Spa of the West, where are located the wonderful mineral springs, is reached by trolley. A favorite one day drive includes a visit to the famous Royal Gorge of the Arkansas, near Canon City. Also, there are literally scores of other principal items and innumerable interesting spots and scenes off the beaten paths.

in 1859. This place became the center of the "Pikes Peak or Bust" gold excitement and the first territorial capital of Colorado.

In 1871 General William J. Palmer, pioneer and builder, located the original townsite that is now Colorado Springs. With the trained judgment of an engineer and the vision of a prophet, he chose a site having just the right proximity to the mountains and planned the arrangement of the city's magnificent broad streets, avenues, boulevards and parks.

The people of Colorado Springs come from all parts of the United States and Europe. The present population of 40,000 is probably as cosmopolitan as could be found in any community of equal size, but the standards of citizenship are high. There are no slums, no foreign quarter or objectionable alien elements, and the bolsheviki and the "reds" are conspicuous by their absence. There never was a saloon here.

It is essentially a city of homes and refinement, a center of culture. In educational facilities and in the development of its commercial, social and religious life it ranks with many cities of much larger size. If the visitor seeks the unusual, he may ride in comfort and safety over the wonderful Pikes Peak Auto Highway or the world famous Cog Road to the very summit of Pikes Peak, from which vantage point he may behold a vast panorama of nature's handiwork, comprising many thousands of square miles of billowy plains and towering peaks, dotted here and there with the comparatively insignificant works of man. Or he may take the Crystal Park auto trip or the Mt. Manitou Incline Railway and from different points look down on the many beauties of the region. Or he may visit the wonderful Cave of the Winds, unique in its geo-

❖ History of Colorado College ❖

ALTHOUGH Colorado College is strictly non-sectarian and independent of all ecclesiastical control, its early history shows the influence of the Congregational Church.

The foundation of Colorado College was first actively undertaken by the Congregational Association in 1873, due to a proposal of Rev. Edward P. Tenney, who realized the need for educational facilities under Christian auspices. The first active work of the association was prompted by Professor Thomas Haskell, the practical founder of the College, who entered into the foundation with great earnestness and acted as financial agent during the establishment. Rev. Jonathan Edwards was in charge at the opening.

In May, 1874, the association opened the first classes of Colorado College in the old Wanless building, now the First National Bank building, with an enrollment of twenty pupils. The following September a two-room temporary building was erected opposite the Acacia Park with the enrollment increased to forty students. For four years this building remained the home of Colorado College. By this time the panic of 1873 and the grasshoppers of 1874 had completely paralyzed business and hopes. The cry of those who remained in the territory was money for bread and not money for colleges. President Dougherty went east at this time to appeal for financial assistance but after a most earnest effort reported that nothing could be done at present in the way of assisting Colorado College financially, and with the report came his resignation. For the next five years Colorado College existed in the upper story of a building on the North side of Pikes Peak Avenue and at the home of Professor James H. Kerr, where classes in Mining and Metallurgy were conducted.

REV. EDWARD P. TENNEY APPOINTED PRESIDENT IN 1876

Through the conscientious efforts of the Ministers of Colorado Springs, and other active workers, the people of New England and New York were always kept informed of the possibilities of Colorado College. Through these constant efforts, Rev. Tenney was sent out from New England to investigate the reported possibilities of the College and upon his favorable report was elected president of the College, assuming his active duties in 1876. President Tenney's coming brought new life and hope to the College. His first step was to awaken a permanent interest in Colorado and the territories of the mountains among the people of the East, and especially of New England. For this purpose he issued a pamphlet, entitled "The New West."

Realizing the need of preparatory schools for a permanent college, he established preparatory schools in the larger towns of the territory and in New Mexico and Utah. President Tenney was an advocate of the highest standards of scholarship and was not satisfied with anything below the standards of Harvard and Yale. Tenney, had of course, the problem of finance. For the purpose of securing a large endowment fund without begging it he entered upon a land scheme which, when viewed in the light of present day business ventures, was exceedingly farsighted and prospectively profitable, but which, on account of a lack of sufficient funds fell through and brought untold comment upon his shoulders which was altogether undeserved. His plan was to buy all land in Colorado Springs townsite north of Columbia Street.

ERECTION OF FIRST STONE BUILDING

The work of the erection of the first stone building of the College was begun in the summer of 1877 and was six years before the building now known as Cutler Hall was entirely completed. During the year 1878 the building committee was in a pitiable plight; $2,000 was due mechanics and as much more was needed for walls and roof. The money was finally raised and the building was made ready for use January 5, 1880. The design of the building was at that time said to be so attractive that it would maintain itself with College halls to be rected in later years. Mr Henry Austin of Chicago sent a bell for the belfry and the wingless building was outwardly complete. On January 13, 1881, President Tenney interviewed General Palmer concerning the addition of the wings to Cutler, and as a result, the wings were completed May 1882, and that year the building was dedicated and called Cutler Academy.

In 1880 the late Professor William Strieby became Professor of Chemistry, and the present Chemistry Department is a monument to his training, his faithfulness and his sacrifices.

Among Colorado College workers, there is one name never to be forgotten, the name of Professor Geo. N. Marden. In 1881 we find him as Professor of Political Economy and History and later as financial agent and treasurer. Through his earnest efforts over a quarter of a million dollars was secured for Colorado College. The greatest work of his life, however, was securing a President of the College, in the person of Dr. Frederick Slocum.

President Tenney retired in 1885 and between the years 1885 and 1888, the College was administered by an executive committee composed of the faculty, of which Dr. Strieby was the active head. In October 1888, Dr. William Frederick Slocum came to the College as the new president.

SLOCUM, NEW PRESIDENT

When President Slocum took charge he found a mortgage on the campus and the president's home and the first thing he did was to raise the mortgages on this property. Up to date no one has accomplished more for the college in a financial way, and it was during his administration that the College grew from one building and a campus, to the College of today.

In 1888 there was no place to house the students, and Cutler Academy possessed all the lecture rooms, laboratories, and administrative offices of the College, with the library and assembly hall.

MEN'S RESIDENCE HALL

In 1889 a residence hall for men was begun which was named Hagerman Hall in honor of J. J. Hagerman, the principal donor. This building cost $27,000 and was equipped with dining hall, reading room, and bed rooms.

The College began to advance its standards, and new and able men were added to the faculty, and students came in increasing numbers.

FIRST WOMEN'S DORMITORY

Until this time no provision had been made for the housing of the women. A movement was started in 1888 which resulted in the building of Montgomery Hall in 1889. The building was so named in honor of Mrs. Slocum's sister. It is made of Castle Rock stone, with dining rooms, parlor and a suite of rooms for the matron.

Three years later, Henry R. Wolcott of Denver, presented the College with an Astronomical Observatory which was called "The Wolcott Observatory" in his honor.

Light, heat and power were the things now most needed. A building to provide these things was begun in 1900 and with many later improvements has cost nearly $50,000. It now supplies fourteen buildings and is under the supervision of an engineer.

MODERN LIBRARY STARTED

In 1900 the College had only a small number of books, which were kept in the North wing of Cutler Academy. The next need was a modern and well furnished library. Mr. Coburn of Newton, Mass., gave President Slocum $50,000 for a library building. Such a building was started and built of peachblow sandstone, which had been selected by the Board of Trustees as the building material for the rest of the buildings on the quadrangle of the campus. The library now contains over 100,000 bound volumes.

TICKNOR HALL

The growth of the College became so rapid that they were obliged to rent a house off the campus to house the women who were unable to get into Montgomery Hall. This was very unsatisfactory, and Ticknor Hall was given to us by Miss Elizabeth Cheney.

This building contains an infirmary, a recreation room, reception room and parlor and was built of stone taken from a quarry in Ute Pass.

PERKINS' FINE ARTS HALL

The President now felt the need of a building for the department of Music and Art, and as these ideas began to take shape, Mr. Willard B. Perkins bequeathed $10,000 to be used for the erection of some college building. Having faith in the possibilities of raising the additional money needed, they used this $10,000 toward the erection of the building now known as the Perkins Hall of Fine Arts. This building was also constructed of peachblow sandstone, and furnished us with an auditorium especially suited for concerts, lectures and "Chapel." Miss Elizabeth Cheney gave an excellent pipe organ for this auditorium, in memory of her brother.

COBURN LIBRARY AND PERKINS HALL

PALMER HALL

Palmer Hall was the next addition to the College group, and was to contain lecture rooms and laboratories for general work and independent research. It was started in 1903 and completed at a cost of $267,000. Dr. D. K. Pearson added $50,000 toward endowment fund and $50,000 more was added for furnishing the equipment for laboratories and the scientific work. The building was dedicated in 1904, President David Starr Jordan giving the address. It was named after General William J. Palmer, the great benefactor of the College.

MCGREGOR AND BEMIS HALLS

After the completion of Palmer Hall, the student body grew by leaps and bounds and it was again a question of housing the women. To provide for this, a third dormitory for women "McGregor Hall" was built. It was begun in 1902 and completed in 1903 at a cost of $28,000 and named in honor of one of the early instructors who rendered valuable services to the College.

None of the three dormitories now existing conformed with the President's ideal of a woman's dormitory. A building was planned which was to be the center of the girls life on the campus as well as a place to meet for social functions. Such a building was opened and dedicated in 1908 in honor of Judson M. Bemis, one of the most generous patrons of the College. It contains accommodations for eighty-two women, a dining hall, common room, reception room with parlor, and the apartment of the Dean of Women, a little theater, kitchen, store rooms and servants quarters.

COSSITT STADIUM, FROM WEATHER BUREAU TOWER

COSSITT HALL

As early as 1902, President Slocum was planning a men's building which was to be the center of all non-academic life of the College. In the fall of 1911 he announced his plan to begin a campaign to raise money for what is now Cossitt Hall. Early in the Spring of 1913, $250,000 of the necessary $300,000 was raised and the contract was let and the corner stone laid at commencement time.

Cossitt Hall contains the gymnasium, a full equipment for all athletics, including quarters for visiting teams, a large "Common Room," offices of the athletic director and his assistants, a men's dining room, kitchen, the "C" Club, boxing and wrestling rooms, dressing rooms and shower baths. A large stadium is a part of this building.

In 1917, President Slocum retired and the Board of Trustees chose Dr. C. A. Duniway, then President of the University of

GENERAL WM. J. PALMER

Wyoming to become President of Colorado College. Coming here at the beginning of the war President Duniway was called upon to face new and perplexing problems, several of which were the decrease of the student body, the necessity for many new professors and an increase in the salaries of these instructors.

It was found necessary during the war to drop the four-year course in engineering. This was later restored on a six-year basis, four years to be given at Colorado College and two at an Engineering School.

In May, 1918, Colorado College desired to "do its bit" and so offered housing and accommodations to the S. A. T. C. This was accepted by the government and 250 men were received for instruction in radio work. The men were housed in Hagerman Hall, Ticknor Hall, Montgomery Hall and five Fraternity houses. In December the S. A. T. C. was demobilized and the great helpfulness of the College ceased.

Colorado College has forged ahead in financial matters as is shown by the figures for the year ending June 30, 1921. The cash receipts for endowment for that year were $80,117. The total donations for endowment and current expenses were $97,835.

FRATERNITIES

Social life has kept pace with the growth of the College, but it is a remarkable fact that fraternities have only been on the campus for the last fifteen years. The first fraternities to be established on the campus were Kappa Sigma in 1904 and Sigma Chi in 1905.

Three years later, 1908, Phi Gamma Delta established a chapter here. With three national fraternities in the field there were 255 men in the College. Phi Delta Theta came on the campus in 1913, five years after Phi Gamma Delta. At this time there were 285 men for the four nationals to draw from. Fraternity material was still so abundant that Beta Theta Pi established a chapter the following year, 1914. Two locals appeared in 1917. One of them was a reorganization of the Engineers Club which was founded in 1911. It took for its name Epsilon Sigma Alpha (rumored to mean "Engineering, Science and Art") and immediately petitioned for a charter from a professional engineering national. Failing in this because the College discontinued the engineering school, a charter was accepted from the Pi Kappa Alpha national social fraternity. The other local established a few months before was called Omega Psi. When the war broke out in the spring of that year, nineteen of the twenty charter members of Omega Psi enlisted and left College. This forced the local to suspend activity. In the spring of 1920, three members of Omega Psi returned from the war and with eight other men petitioned the faculty for recognition of the reorganization of Omega Psi under the new name of Alpha Nu. This local is now petitioning the national fraternity of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

It is contrary to the administrative policy of the College to allow sororities on the campus. In their absence, literary societies take their place in the social life of the girls.

OFFICERS AND TRUSTEES

Throughout the history of Colorado College, its destiny has been guided by business men of influence and character. From the time of William J. Palmer, Empire Builder, Statesman, and Business Man, down to the present, the business affairs of the College have been most ably taken care of, and the College has prospered, because of the efforts of its Officers and Trustees.

It is hardly necessary, in reviewing the many years of College business, to do more than to give a list of these men; their names alone will mean much to anyone acquainted with Colorado College, Colorado Springs, and the Centennial State.

THE COLLEGE FACULTY

Through all the years of her development, Colorado College has been fortunate in her wise choice of men and women to instruct her students. The Faculty has always been large for a college of this size, and the individuals have been strong in their respective fields of knowledge.

It has been a remarkable fact that Colorado College has been able to compete with the largest universities for men and women of the highest rank; many of the members of her Faculty have refused much higher salaries in other places and have stayed and served in Colorado College; this loyalty and devotion of Faculty has caused the standards of Colorado College to be very high and has raised her standing to a place where she is honored by all who know her.

The task would be too great to give the men and women who have served so faithfully, their just dues; we can merely give their names and we believe it is honor enough to be listed among such associates.

THE HARVARD EXCHANGE

An arrangement with Harvard University is in operation, by which that institution, each year, sends two professors for a half year to six Western Colleges; Beloit, Carleton, Colorado College, Grinnell, Knox, Pomona, dividing the time equally among them; and each of them in return, sends a member of its faculty to Harvard for a half year, one-third of his time to be given to instruction, and the remainder to graduate or research work.

The Harvard Exchange Professor sent to Colorado College for the year 1922 is Professor Robert Howard Lord, Ph. D., professor of history.

SOPHOMORE BANQUET

Tuesday, October 11, the Sophomores held their annual Banquet. It was held this year at Palmer Hall. In past years the annual Sophomore Banquet has been held at some of the local hotels, Manitou and Bruin Inn. The ceremonies took place in the Biology lecture room, where several skeletons watched guard. Thus in the words of the Sophs, "in peace we ate."

The committee in charge, consisting of Ryan, Thomas and Thatcher, assembled the grub at McRaes and then concealed it in a garage near Palmer Hall to be brought in at 7:30. At eight o'clock, small groups of men entered Palmer by the west door.

The Freshmen, as well as a number of upper classmen, believed that the Banquet was to be held at Ramona Hotel, Cascade, and thence practically all the Freshmen made their way expecting to surprise the Sophomores and cause them to postpone part, at least, of the Banquet until a later date.

In concealing their movements and the location of the event, the Sophs were very successful inasmuch as not a single Freshman was wise to the game. This was no discredit to the Frosh, however, for they did all that was in their power to have the event postponed.

INITIATION STUNT ALPHA KAPPA PSI

It is a custom of the Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity that the pledges put on a stunt in Chapel which deals with an Economic or Business problem. This year they put across a playlet entitled "Back to Normalcy." This affair looked at from any angle was a success.

Their lines had real wit, their farcial-take-offs were near enough to life to make the sketch, as a whole, interesting. It showed, with all its take-off, the inherent greeds of each social group.

The characters were: Financier, James Park; Business Manager, Keith Chick; Capitalist, Ben Wendelken; Higher Learning, Russel Carter; Good Old Days, Harry Taylor; Einstein, Robert McIlvaine; Devil, Elwood Amos; Suffragette, Charley Bemis; Religion, Malcolm Graham; Common Man, Myron Carter; and the Laborer, Malcolm MacDougall.

These personages were seated around a directors table with the problem before them of getting back to normalcy without cutting any of the pie they were eating. The Financier, chairman of the board, gave the opening speech. He reiterated the time worn phrase of co-operation, hard work and more profits to all. The Capitalist was in favor of all changes which would increase his profits. The Manager was all for efficiency and co-ordination. The Suffragette with her cracking voice had the solution with women as business executives. The Parson treated the audience with a sickly smile. "Rah Rah" had the Salvation of Higher Learning. The Common Man wanted everything cheap. The Devil came in at this time and influenced the Laborer to tell them all to jump in the lake. The Devil was pushed out and the Good Old Days entered. He explained that from the relative amount of business in the past and the future, the amount of present business might be determined. By this data and his brains a solution might be reached. This solution so disgusted the assembly, that they adjourned.

CLASS SCRAP

Following the Sophomore Banquet, the second Class Scrap took place in front of Perkins Hall immediately after Chapel, Wednesday, October 12. In this fight, the sophomores proved their ability by defeating the Frosh. Water was brought into play by the Frosh, by means of a three inch fire hose. Although the water was considered rather cool by the Sophomores, there was insufficient force behind it to dislodge the Sophomores in the tree who were guarding their flag. The use of the water also made the tree so slick that the Frosh found it difficult to ascend in order to displace the Sophs and capture the flag.

Although the Frosh were defeated, they showed unusual ability and inspiration, and if their plans had turned out as they expected, it is probable that the fight would have terminated differently. It was a real fight from the beginning to the end and, although the Frosh were defeated, it speaks well for their chances of victory next year.

INSIGNIA DAY

The Insignia Day exercises mark the beginning of the end for the Seniors. This is the first occasion on which they appear in cap and gown. The custom of entering the chapel through an arch of flowers made by the Juniors is rather impressive. The Juniors enter first in double file. The first two stop just inside the door and hold their flowers up so as to form the arch. The next couple add to the length of the arch and so on until the entire length of the center aisle is arched with flowers. The Seniors then enter and march through the floral arch to their seats. When the Seniors have all passed through, the Juniors "undo" the arch in the same way they put it up. The couple nearest the door pass through the arch and the next couple follows and so on until the last couple take down their arms and find their seats. When all are seated the Seniors are showered with the flowers and the chapel exercises begin.

November ninth, was the date of Insignia Day this year. No particular date is kept from year to year but it is always some date before the Thanksgiving holiday. After the chapel service the Seniors forget their new found dignity and indulge in a game of "three deep" on the lawn. The caps and gowns are not laid aside for this part of the program and the stately ones present an interesting spectacle racing around the circle with their long gowns flying in the wind and their stiff caps bobbing off and on.

HOME COMING AND BARBECUE

A large number of graduates were present at the Home Coming, October 28 and 29. The old grads were met at the trains by cars, placarded with "C. C. Home Coming" and were taken to their Fraternity Houses, Halls or Homes. Each graduate was given a card bearing his name and class.

Friday, October 28, at eleven o'clock, one of the biggest parades of the year was held. In the afternoon the Fraternities and Societies held open house for their Alumni and friends of the College. In the evening the Sophomore class put on one of the best barbecues ever staged.

Saturday morning at 10.30 the "Baby Tigers" defeated St. Regis College of Denver by a score of 7-0. This was followed by the alumni banquet at Bemis and Cossitt halls. Following the banquet, the alumni marched to the field with their own band and cheer leader, to their own section between the C. C. men and the C. C. women, where the Tigers mixed with the Aggies football team at 2:30.

Saturday evening the men banqueted at Cossitt and the women at Bemis, followed by the all-college dance at Bemis, which has been called the best all-college dance staged in years.

The twenty-sixth Colorado College Barbecue was held in Cossitt Stadium Friday evening, October 28 under the direction and management of Russel Hunter of the Sophomore class. Directly preceeding the Barbecue was a pep-meeting featured by yells and songs by the student body and speeches by the Alumni. Talks were also made by the Coaches and members of the football team.

Chuck Ball took charge of the meeting from then on and a regular tossing took place. Swede Jackson was the first to ascend and he was immediately followed by Les McTavish and Mal Graham. "Coach" Harrison was tossed for being a general nuisance. "Peanuts" Strong, Sam McCool and John Duniway were tossed for their inability to hold on to their freshmen caps.

Y. W. C. A. CIRCUS

The Annual Y. W. C. A. Circus was held in Cossitt Gymnasium Saturday, November 19. It was considered the largest and most successful Circus ever given at Colorado College.

The SOS Band opened the ring stunts by playing "Coming Thru the Rye" and "Good Night Ladies." A troupe of trained seals performed on roller skates. This was given by the Freshmen class. The Juniors then gave their mock Chapel Exercises. The Ticknor Hall Football Team then came on the field. A rough game ensued and several heroes were knocked out, but with the aid of a sponge they were brought to again and the game continued. After the game, the Trained Horses accompanied by a giraffe and an ostrich took the stage. Scenes were changed again and a thrilling movie was enacted by the Sophomore girls. Then the ring became an arena and a genuine and gory bull fight took place. This was followed by an act by the acrobats. The Circus was terminated by a chariot race.

In the side shows Tragedy of the Cannibal Isles and Blue Beard's decapitated wives were shown. There was also a fortune teller and a snake charmer. The clowns made themselves generally conspicuous.

ALL-COLLEGE PICNIC

On Wednesday, February 22, the annual all-college picnic took place in the Garden of the Gods. This event, one of the time honored traditions of the college proved to be one of the most enjoyable affairs of the year. The attendance was large, the weather ideal and the "eats," excellent.

The festivities began about noon. Some came in autos, some rode the street cars as far as possible and some hiked across country.

The big event of the day was the faculty race. Prof. Gilmore, running with all the speed and grace of an Apollo, won this easily, inasmuch as he was the only entry. The freshmen challenged the whole school to a tug of war and won this after several minutes of pulling and tugging, owing to the fact that most of the upperclassmen had lost themselves before the event took place. The girls' race created quite a sensation—especially among the men. This event was won by Miss Ellis. MacDougall's team copped the centipede race. Coach Parsons was master of ceremonies.

A dance at San Luis School topped off the program and ended the best all-college picnic C. C. has seen in many a year.

COLONIAL BALL

On Friday evening, February 24, the women of the college gathered together for their annual Colonial Ball in Bemis Hall. This was one of the big events of the year and one which was attended by practically all of the women of the college. Some of the fair coeds dressed to represent "The Great Father of their Country" who "never told a lie." One might have been surprised at the number of good looking colonial gentlemen who were the result of long hours of "fixing up." The rest of the girls, after much "piling up" and "powdering" of hair, and the donning of gowns like "grandmother used to wear," were commendable representations of George's wife.

The hall girls and their guests marched into the dining room to the tune of America and took their respective places at the prettily decorated tables.

After the dinner the town girls came and the Grand March was formed. Miss Phinney and Margaret Carter, led the girls into the common room from one side, and Mrs. McMurtry and Ruth Merrill from the other side.

At about nine o'clock the dancing was discontinued while Eleanor Bartlett and Fanchion Croy gave an attractive dance. After this came the minuet, which was danced by Margaret Carter, Lorraine Moody, Dorothy Nyhus, Nellie Earnest, Lucille Lilyard, Catherine Hood, Adalaide Easley, Marie Bollinger, Ruth Little, Zella Brown, Betty Brown, Ruth Hutchinson, Mildred Finlay, Clara Vorrieter, Edna Theobald, and Eleanor Bartlett who took the place of Martha Mae Kirkpatrick.

DRAMATICS

The Dramatic Club of Colorado College is greatly indebted to both the Drama League of Colorado Springs, and to Mr. Sargent, for their interest and co-operation in the work of the Club this year.

The Drama League has taken an interest in all the activities of the Club, and has given its hearty support. In January the League conducted the meeting at Bemis Hall, and gave a very interesting and valuable program.

Mr. Sargent has given a big impetus to dramatics, to the spoken stage, in the College and in the town. His willingness to give freely his time and valuable ideas in matters of production has made him a much sought after man among the amateur actors. He is also the director of the Community Play House which is now under construction. Under the leadership of such a capable man as Mr. Sargent, this work is sure to prove a success.

SENIOR PLAY, 1921

"Polly with a Past," was presented by the Class of 1921 of Colorado College on June 9, at the Burns Theater.

Elizabeth Morgan, as Polly, was splendid in her role, and handled her part with dramatic strength. She was well supported in this by Ruford Blair, who, as Rex Van Zile, was a love-lorn youth of simplicity. The humorous situations were played in a very convincing manner by Monroc Heath, as Stiles, Kenneth Brown as Harry Richardson, and Angello Scott as Clay-Colum, Roy Brumfield as the temperamental musician was also to be highly commended. Evelyn Austin as Mrs. Clementine Davis, and Miriam Scribner as Mrs. Van Zile, gave excellent characterizations. Bernice Miles as Myrtle Davis was splendid. Then there was James McCool, last but not least, for he was a big part of the show and deserves a great deal of mention.

Much credit for the success of the play is given to Miss Frances Schenk, the coach.

“SUPPRESSED DESIRES”

“Suppressed Desires” was given by the Dramatic Club at Cogswell Theater on Friday evening, October 21.

The play was a comedy and the scene was laid in the Brewster Home. Henrietta Brewster, a strong believer in psycho-analysis, endeavors to win her husband to her side. Mabel, sister of Henrietta, is visiting at the Brewster home. Henrietta finds that Mabel has a suppressed desire to leave her husband, while Stephen, her husband, has a desire to become the husband of Mabel. Mabel in the meantime takes up the study. Finally Henrietta's faith in the study is broken. Faye Lilley as Henrietta displayed the mystic look and tone of voice peculiar to that particular character. Harry Taylor, as Stephen, showed clearly his disgust of the science. Rowena Hampshire, as Mabel, played her part exceedingly well. Her thoroughly innocent view of psycho-analysis was humorous and later in the play when she was crying at nearly every turn, she showed the exceeding wide range of her acting.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB OPERETTA

The Girls' Glee Club gave for its annual concert this year, the Indian Operetta "Se-a-wan-a" which was a success in every way.

The operetta was given in Perkins Hall on December 3, 1921, amid a woodland setting.

The story is that of a Mohawk maid, Se-a-wan-a, who by placing a blue cornflower in a white doeskin pouch conveys her assent to Nakowa's proposal.

Ne-a-quā who also loves Nakowa exchanges the cornflower for a nightshade blossom which means rejection.

Nakowa, brokenhearted, scorns Se-a-wan-a who appeals to O-gin-e-a-quā to right the injustice done her.

The court procession enters singing, "Justice, Justice, Give Her Justice." O-gin-e-a-quā questions the Winds of the forest, Wabose the hare, and Sa-kwe-eu-ta the snake, but they have seen nothing wrong.

Finally she questions Opeche the robin, who has witnessed Ne-a-quā's treacherous deed.

Ne-a-quā confesses her guilt which was done at the suggestion of the evil forest spirits. Se-a-wan-a and the others forgive her and the procession of the Indian maidens leaves singing the wedding song for Se-a-wan-a and Na-ko-wa.

THE CHINESE LANTERN

Of course, the big affair of the year was the function play. This is the only production to which men are invited. As each member is entitled to a guest, the house is always crowded.

This year the club chose a play which has greater literary merit as well as greater opportunities, for effective stage setting and costuming than anything given in college for a number of years. The vehicle chosen was "The Chinese Lantern," a charming fantasy by Lawrence Houseman.

The story treats of the love affair of a little Korean slave girl, Mee Mee, who having been born under the Star, has the power of making her husband the greatest living artist. She had been sold and betrothed to one Yunglangsti, the fat and indolent son of the artist Olangsti and his wife who is called Mrs. Baek-of-the-House. Mee Mee loves the slave boy, Tikipu, and after three years of hard work and suffering, she wins a return for her love thru the aid of the mystic picture within which dwells the spirit of Wiowani, ancient painter. Mee Mee and Tikipu elope much to the consternation of Mr. and Mrs. Olangsti.

Under the efficient management of Doris Haymes and the excellent coaching of Faye Lilley the play was assured of success from the first rehearsal. Helen Wells was the property and stage manager while Gladys Glendenning and Lutie Marshall together took the difficult part of costumer. The Mandolin Club furnished music between acts. The refreshments after the play were in charge of Helen Armstrong, ably assisted by Edith Williamson, Lorraine Moody and Gail Beckman.

THE SLAVE WITH TWO FACES

On February 17, the Girls Dramatic Club presented in Cogswell Theater, Mary Caroline Davies' allegorical play entitled "A Slave With Two Faces."

The play sets forth the idea that one has it in his power to triumph over the conditions of life rather than be crushed by them. Life has two faces or aspects. If he is met with a commanding attitude, he becomes a cringing slave. If he is feared, he becomes a cruel master. There are two girls in the Allegory. The first girl never removes her crown in the presence of life, and never loses her queenly, intrepid demeanor. Life is always her slave. The second girl succeeds for a short time in making life her slave, but finally yields to flattery and gives up her crown. She betrays her fear of Life to him, and he then whips and kills her. The play shows four other characters—a woman, a man, a young man, and a workman—who have been intimidated by life, and whom he drives across the stage.

The Critic, Professor Goodenough, was well pleased with the girls' production of the play. He congratulated each of them on successfully portraying a mood or tendency, which represented an abstract character.

THE WONDER HAT

"The Wonder Hat" by Ben Hecht and Kenneth Sawyer Goodman was the first of the monthly plays of the Dramatic Club and was given in honor of the freshman girls. It was a queer little one-act affair with a plot about a woman-hater who purchased from an old rag man a "wonder hat" which made him invisible; and a beautiful young lady who purchased from the same old man a slipper which made all men love her. Complications are bound to occur and they do. The play ends with a question—shall the little girl give back her slipper and the woman-hater his hat, or shall they keep them—and the audience is left to make its own conclusion.

The part of Columbine, the young lady, was charmingly played by Dorothy Niccolls and Elise Burnett took the part of Margot, her maid. The owner of the "Wonder Hat" was Ruth Hutchinson and Catherine Crockett was Pierrot, her friend. Mary Morris was Punchinello, the old beggar and her pathetic wailings will long be remembered.

Margaret Carter as stage manager arranged an attractive setting with a real fountain and cunning trees representing a section of a park. The moon shone realistically over a high stone wall. Gertrude Klein coached the production and Mary Clegg Owen was the general manager.

THE ONLY GIRL

The Community Workshop at 426 North Tejon has come to be a very valuable asset to the work in dramatics. Its director, Mr. E. Benson Sargent, has coached most of the plays this year and deserves a large part of the credit for their success. He is a man with a great deal of experience in dramatics, both as a professional actor and as a coach. Mr. Arthur Bartlett managed "The Only Girl" and gave much of his time and energy in its production. He is one of the best boosters for the success of dramatics in the community.

It is hoped that The Workshop may become connected with the College in some official way in the future. The work of public speaking and of dramatics could then be handled more easily and more efficiently.

"The Only Girl," presented by members of the national dramatic fraternity, Theta Alpha Phi, and managed by the Community Workshop, should mark a new era in the history of local dramatics as it is the first production backed by both the community and the college.

The play was given at the Burns Theater in May, with the following cast of characters:

John Ayre .....	Carl A. Brumfield
Andrew McMurray .....	Lowell O. Collins

THE CRIMSON COCOANUT

The Crimson Cocoanut was presented by the Girl's Dramatic Club, Saturday, November 19. The play was a one act comedy and the scene was laid in a cheap restaurant in London.

Lucy Fast played the part of an old waiter, and unlike most waiters was the center of attraction. Her comical remarks and high pitched voice kept the audience in a never ending uproar. She didn't once forget the part which she was portraying, nor from all appearances, was she the least bit self conscious.

The part of Nitro Glycerinski was taken by Marie Bollinger. She characterized the sly manner of the Bolshevik very well.

Nitro was readily assisted by his wife which part was taken by Rita Fist. Miss Fist showed an unusual amount of dramatic ability. Both did well in perfecting the Russian accent.

The part of Mr. Jabstick, the father, was taken by Margaret Morris. She made the whole room shake when she brought her fist down on the table and said, "I want my lunch, my lunch, waiter."

Ruth Epsey played the part of Nancy, his daughter, very commendably. She made a most attractive young lady and one who was very much in love.

Jack Pincher, the lover, was played by Irma Patton, who was indeed an ardent lover. He was by profession a detective and was very much engrossed in his occupation.

EAGER HEART

For thirteen years it has been the practice of the Girls' Dramatic Club to present the charming miracle play, "Eager Heart," on the Saturday night preceeding the Christmas holidays. The play was written by Miss A. M. Buckton, an Englishwoman, and permission to produce it was obtained from the Eager Heart company of London. Miss Bennett's school in New York City was the first group to present it in the United States. Mrs. Slocum, a friend and pupil of Miss Bennett, procured it for Colorado College in nineteen hundred and nine. Dean E. D. Hale supplied the music for the play, since the original script which had been ordered from London did not arrive, its loss being probably attributable to the Titanic disaster which occurred about that time.

In Nineteen hundred and thirteen, "The Other Wise Man," by Van Dyke was substituted, but since it was not found satisfactory, no further deviation from the regular custom has since been made.

"Eager Heart," was presented by the girls' dramatic club on Sunday, December 11, in Cogswell Theater.

The story is of a young girl, Eager Heart, who prepared a simple feast and lodging hoping that she might house a royal guest that night, for the Christ Child was awaited.

Winged angels appear thru a veil and sing praises to God. Christmas anthems and hymns are sung thru the play, at intervals. The star of Bethlehem guides the shepherds and kings to where the Christ Child lies in the humble dwelling of Eager Heart, and they lay their gifts at His feet.

Eager Fame and Eager Sense, the sisters of Eager Heart, come too late to see the Christ and receive His blessing. They had gone to the city gates and to the palace where there was a great celebration for the King's coming.

Nöel, the Christmas carol is sung at the end of the play.

A SPECIAL DELIVERY

"A Special Delivery," was given by the Dramatic Club at Cogswell on Friday evening, October 21. The scene was laid in William Aymer's bachelor apartments in Philadelphia in 1910. The play was a comedy and contained delightful repartee. The acting was more than could be expected.

Coming as it did at the first of the season, it marked an unusual triumph for the club as well as a promising future.

Although it was given immediately after the pep-meeting, and there were a number of other activities around the campus, Cogswell Theater was filled to its full capacity.

Helen Thebus, as Marjorie, in her characteristic way was easily the star of the play. Her manner was graceful and her person charming. Lowell Collins as Aymer was a typical bachelor and did his part exceedingly well.

In playing the part of Timothy, Jeff Wardwell, displayed both the enthusiasm and ambition of a young college man. In the character parts, Mr. and Mrs. Grice, both Carl Brumfield and Doris Haymes starred.

PAIGE BENBOW

A new man with promise in debating with a good record in high school who showed up well against Aggies. He is a Freshman and has three more years to represent the black and gold.

FRANK MAHAN

Mahan has been debating for Colorado College for two years and has appeared in three inter-collegiate debates. He was manager of debating this year and captain of the team that went to Aggies.

JOHN DUNIWAY

Duniway is a good man with no previous experience who shows promise of developing forensic ability. He handled the second affirmative speech at Aggies.

CHARLES KIMBLE

The old standby. Can be depended upon to make a good showing against any team. Shows more interest in the sport than any other two men. Has debated two years for Colorado College.

ERNEST SHEPPARD

A Senior debating for the first time this year. Won his Tau Kappa Alpha key in the debates with Denver University and Lawrence College. A good man in debate on economic questions.

BEN WENDELKEN

Has debated four years for Colorado College. Was manager one year and has been captain of nearly every team he has been on. His ready wit and keen analysis has saved the day for his side in many a close debate.

DEBATING

Colorado College is a member of a triangular intercollegiate debating league. Denver University and Colorado Agricultural College are the other members. Every year a meeting is held at which representatives of each institution get together and select the question for the year.

For the season of 1920-1921, the question was "Resolved that the U. S. should exclude the Japanese on the same basis as the Chinese."

Colorado College divided honors in the league. The affirmative team composed of Charles Kimble, Carmen Freyschlag and Robert S. McIlvaine defeated the Aggies in Colorado Springs. The negative team, Reignensen C. T. Chen, John McClary and Paul Crowder were forced to yield to Denver University at Denver.

Three debates outside of the league were held, using this same question. A negative team, composed of Ben Wendelken, Jack Dern and Charles Young were defeated by Cotner College and by Washburn College. While this team was losing, the affirmative team composed of J. Elwood Amos, Charles Kimble and Robert S. McIlvaine met and defeated a team from Washburn in Colorado Springs. Thus the Tigers won two and lost three debates on this question.

In addition to these debates one more was held, and that with Pomona College of California. The question was "Resolved that the U. S. institute a responsible system of cabinet government." Colorado College held the affirmative. The team composed of Frank Mahan, F. Crowder and Hugh Flaherty put up a good argument, but lost with the decision 2 to 3.

The question for the league for the year 1921-1922 was "Resolved that the closed shop is justifiable." In order to select the teams a series of inter-class debates were held. The sophomore team composed of Charles Kimble, Jack Dern and Miller Mussey advocated the Industrial Court Plan of Kansas. The Freshman team, John Duniway, Paige Benbow and James Flaherty won the decision from them. The Seniors, Ian McKenzie, Ben Wendelken and Ernest Sheppard advocating the cancellation of the allicd debt, lost the decision to the Junior team, Frank Mahan, J. Elwood Amos and Robert S. McIlvaine.

An affirmative and negative team on the closed shop were chosen from these two debates. The affirmative team of Ernest Sheppard, Charles Kimble and Ben Wendelken lost to Denver University and the negative of Frank Mahan, John Duniway and Paige Benbow lost to the Aggies.

The affirmative team is scheduled to meet Lawrence College of Appleton Wisconsin, the negative to meet Washburn College on the issue of open and closed shop.

"C" CLUB HISTORY

Ever since the giving of letters for athletic sports, there has been a feeling of co-operation among the men who were eligible to wear the coveted insignia. To the writer's best knowledge, one of the first times they were privileged to have a social function was in the spring of 1919. It was during this dance that Coach C. J. Rothgeb, better known as "Rothy," wore a pedometer. He claimed that during the fifteen dances he traveled a distance of more than eight miles, thus proving beyond a doubt that athletes should not dance the night previous to a contest.

"Rothy" resigned during the summer of 1919. The college at once secured the services of Charles L. "Poss" Parsons, who has since given the "Tigers" the name of "The Fighting Devils." This name was not given the "Tigers" by "The Fighting Parson," as he was known at Iowa, but by the different state papers. The "Tigers" have never gone back on that name and it is sincerely hoped never will.

He saw at once that in order to have the Tigers fight when necessary, they should have a place of proper recreation, far different from the gridiron, basketball floor, mat, ring, baseball diamond, or cinder track.

His thought and ideas came to the ears of the business men of Colorado Springs, headed by Pete Woods, Pat Patterson, Bill Jones, Charles Shorb, Otis McIntyre, L. P. Perkins, Governor Shoup, Dr. Woodward, Dr. Mullin, Dr. Schaefer, and Dr. Blackman, made contributions that enabled these men to furnish a luxurious club room. Because of their untiring efforts the club voted these men a paid up honorary life membership. The college did its part by donating Julliard Hall and a pool table.

Julliard Hall, always hereafter to be known as the "C" room, was redecorated and furnished with the fine furniture given by the Colorado Springs business men. It was then dedicated to the 1919 football team by the Colorado Springs business men. This was the team that won the championship of Colorado, and popular championship of the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference. Harry Hughes, the coach of the Aggies, said that the Aggies had no claim to the conference title after being beaten so decisively by the Tigers.

This year the constitution and by-laws were made. Membership in the club is the most coveted thing among the men of the campus. To be eligible to membership in the club, a man must win a letter in football, baseball, basketball, track, wrestling, boxing, tennis or golf. Honorary membership for one year is given to men who stay out for one sport for an entire season. This is the greatest favor done by the club for the men of the college to show aspirants that their efforts are really appreciated.

Frank Kyffin, a baseball letter man, was the first president of the "C" Club. During the first year the "C" Club held an open house for the students of the college. The faculty voted to allow two functions during each college year. The "C" Club has been holding two of the best dances given by any organization, since that time.

The next year, Roy J. "Butch" Brumfield, a football and wrestling letter man, was elected president. As usual, the "C" Club gave two of the best functions of the campus, besides instituting two new things on the college calendar, a smoker given to the business men of the city, and an original musical comedy, "Hitchy Kow." Everything was original, even to some very fine music composed for the occasion by Prof. Frank C. Palm. The "C" Club was requested by the Dean of Women to make the show an annual affair.

This year Charles R. "Chuck" Ball, a football and baseball letter man, was elected president. The first semester dance was very successful, and a second annual smoker was given December 14, 1921. The business men of the city are still talking about the fine entertainment given them. The members are looking forward each year to how they are going to improve the next. The "C" Club of Colorado College is one of the biggest inducements to athletes in the conference; in fact, it is the only exclusive letterman club in the conference. The members of the "C" Club want to see the club grow and the college grow along with it.

C. L. PARSONS, ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

"Poss" C. L. Parsons, in charge of athletics at Colorado College for the last three years, hails from the University of Iowa, where he was considered one of the two best athletes ever turned out by the Hawkeye institution. He won nine letters there, and the only man to follow in his footsteps is Aubrey Devine, All-American halfback for the 1921 football season. "Poss" won his letters in football, basketball and track. A man must choose between baseball or track, no man being allowed to enter both. Parsons was the second man to make nine letters at Iowa.

Coach Parsons was a first lieutenant during the world war, was overseas for 18 months, and was wounded in action in the Meuse-Argonne. Upon his return he was employed at the Soldiers and Sailors club in Denver. He had left the School of Mines in 1917, late in the year. From Denver he came here to succeed Claude J. Rothgeb.

"Poss" has turned out two championship teams since coming here—and this feat is going to be hard to duplicate. He is a hard worker and a heady coach.

"SHORTY" DONALDSON, TRAINER AND COACH

Harvey Donaldson came here from the Pacific coast. This is his third year at Colorado College. He was trainer and wrestling coach at the University of Washington under the famous Gilmour Dobie.

"Shorty" holds the world's championship in wrestling title in the flyweight class. He coached both boxing and wrestling this year.

HARRY HOLMAN, FOOTBALL

"Turk" was a first string end, and an all-conference one at that, on C. C. teams for four years. Was one of the greatest ever as a deadly tackler and a handler of the forward pass.

Holman served as a first lieutenant during the war and saw action overseas with the 89th division.

Harry has served two years as freshman football coach.

BILL TWAY

This was Bill's second year as assistant coach and line coach for the Tigers. Tway secured his football experience at De Pauw University, being a three-year letter man at that institution. During two of those years he was All-Indiana guard, which takes in Purdue, Notre Dame and Indiana University. It was due largely to his efforts that some of the Tiger line men made all-conference. He was responsible along with the other two coaches for instilling in the Tigers the famous "Fighting Devil" spirit, which made them capable of doing what was thought to be impossible, the defeating of D. U. on Thanksgiving day.

HANK REITSCH

Hank was a new assistant coach for the Tiger football squad this year. He hailed from Illinois University, where he had played for three years under the famous football mentor Bob Zupeke. Besides this he played in the army under some of the best American coaches. His special duties were with the centers and guards, and the results of the seasons show that his efforts were not in vain. Besides being a football man in the Big Ten he was one of the best basketball centers in the Western conference. It is not known whether this man will be back to help coach next fall but without a doubt he could do the team a great deal of good.

M. A. JENCKS

"Prof" took the freshman squad in conjunction with Coach Harry Holman and made a real team out of the Baby Tigers. He learned his stuff from John R. Richards, at one time director of athletics at Colorado College and now head coach at the University of Wisconsin. Prof. was a member of the Wisconsin squad for three years.

TRACK SEASON OF 1921

The University of Colorado proved to have the best-balanced track team in the conference. Colorado College finished a good second, and considering the material at hand, the showing of the Tigers was very good. State took the conference meet, 78 $\frac{1}{4}$  to C. C.'s. 27 $\frac{1}{4}$ , and the next closest rival was C. A. C. with 12 points. That about tells the story.

An inter-class meet early in the season showed the sophomores leading at the finish. The classes finished in this order: sophs, 46; frosh, 43; juniors, 29; and seniors, 5.

In a dual meet with the Aggies shortly afterward the Tigers ran away easily. Results were compared by telephone, the Farmers holding their meet in Fort Collins. The final score was Tigers, 82; Aggies, 38. C. C. finished first in every event except the weights. Mal Graham stepped the century in :10.1, the same time in which Naylor trimmed him at the conference meet.

The Miners bowed next to the Tiger iron hand by a 2-1 margin. C. C. ended up with a 85-45 score in its favor. C. C. took the great majority of first places, but the Ore Diggers counted their total on second places and firsts in the low hurdles, high hurdles, shot put, two-mile and half-mile. The lack of real competition prevented any good marks being made. Morton fought an uphill battle with Peabody in the mile and managed to beat him by a finish at the tape. Near the close a stiff breeze made the day a rather poor one for track.

The University of Colorado trimmed us next, the final score being 88-34. It was nearly a clean sweep for the Silver and Gold. The only first places that went to the Tigers were the discus, which Muncaster took, 106 feet, 2 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches, the pole vault, won by Carter, and a tie for first place between MacTavish and Graeber for the broad jump. For the first time in his long career as an athlete under the colors of the local High school and as a Tiger star, Mal Graham was forced to bow to another man in the sprints, Naylor of the University turning the trick. These two dash events were the features of the meet, held in the morning. The men ran a dead heat all the way down the track, and Naylor won by an inch—and not more. A bad knee, suffered during the previous football season, was noticeable in Mal's running. He seemed to wobble down the straightaway.

In the conference meet Graham and Naylor split their events, the State star winning the century and Graham the 220. Both races were easily the feature attractions of the meet. The time for the 100 was :10.1, and that for the 220, :22.3. The 220 was the only event in which the Tigers took first place. Captain Kenneth Brown was out of the 440 with a bad leg. Patterson made a good showing in this event and ran a close second to Lee Willard of Boulder.

Many of the track men were out their first time. Improvement was noted in their work as the season progressed. Lyles showed well in the high hurdles, and in the field events Muncaster, Waiss and Fawcett took off points. The team had a few men who were mighty good in their respective events, but it lacked the balance that made State a strong and worthy foe.

Among those who made their letters were Captain Kenneth Brown, Captain-Elect Mal Graham, Keif, Patterson, Bruce, Kesling, Lyles, Greiner, Waiss, Muncaster, Fawcett, Bemis, Carter, MacTavish, Morton, Nichols, Parks and Lusk.

CAPTAIN KEN. BROWN

One of the best 440 men ever turned out in Tiger-ville. A four year man in track. Could always be depended upon to bring home the bacon, both in the 440 and as a member of the relay team. Ken never broke training. His services will be missed during the coming season.

MAL GRAHAM

Captain-elect and one of the fastest century and 220 men in the Conference. Although handicapped by injuries received during football season, Mal was the leading point getter for the Tiger cinder representatives. After a lay off in football last fall, Captain Graham is out for one of his best seasons. This is Mal's third year under Tiger colors.

BRUCE KESLING

Won his spurs in the half mile. A very consistent trainer who shows promise. He is a one year man. Will be back for more.

PROCTOR NICHOLS

Member of the relay team. His first year. Has a bright future, and with a little more coaching will be a contender in the quarter mile in any sort of Conference competition.

"STORMY" MUNCASTER

Although just a Sophomore, he has already gained fame by his track and football ability. He put the shot and the discus, and with a little coaching will put the shot out of the state.

"PINKEY" LYLES

A two year man, the war horse of the Tiger team. Pinkey not only pole vaulted, but ran the high and low hurdles and the two mile. Always a point getter. Will be back to get another crack at our opponents this year.

"SWEAT" LES MacTAVISH

For three years "Sweat" has been one of the most prominent men on the team. He was always sure of a first in the broad jump, he also ran the 440 and was a member of the relay team. "Sweat" is one of the greatest men in the Rocky Mountain Conference.

"BUD" MORTON

Always in the pink of condition. Won his letter through persistency. Bud has had no high school experience but he won his letter in the two mile in his junior year.

GEORGE LUSK

George won his letter in two broad jumps. The Black and Gold could always depend upon George and Les MacTavish to come through. Will not be back for the 1922 season.

"PAT" PATTERSON

A great natural athlete. Has a world of speed and endurance. Pat will set the Conference on fire before he grabs off his sheepskin. He runs the 440 and breaks the tape for the relay team. Pat gives Willard a great chase in the 440.

"PEP" GREINER

Perry won the low hurdles. He always showed the fleetest in the Conference the spikes on the bottom of his shoes. Perry is a one year man and will help the team to keep above water this year.

GEORGE KEIF

Graham's running mate in the dashes. Good pace setter with lots of promise. Won his letter, first year out. Ineligible this spring on account of dropping school, but should make good in 1923. Gets off to flying start in sprints.

"SKINNEY" COLDREN, MANAGER OF BASEBALL

Did a good job as manager of the squad. His wit drew many people to Washburn Field, to see the Tiger ball tossers perform. One of the tallest men who ever graced our halls.

"CHUCK" FREEMAN, MGR. OF TRACK

One of the most prominent men who ever walked the C. C. campus. Chuck was well liked by the men of the track squad. Worked hard and always for the interest of his Alma Mater.

JIMMIE PARK

Another man who showed his stuff in the relay. A conscientious trainer, has another season at Tiger-lair. Has a chance to show his wares this spring.

"PIKE" BRUCE

Pike's all-year-round condition allowed him to win his mark on the track, where he was entered in the 880. Bruce may not be the fastest thing on legs, but he has a world of endurance and never faltered once. He sets his pace at the start and doesn't change it, with the result he is as fresh as a daisy at the tape.

"RUSS" CARTER

Russ never failed to win points in the pole vault. He showed up to advantage in the Conference meet by winning second place. This coming season will see him going big.

BEECHER FAWCETT

A three year man, always up to form and a consistent point getter. Threw the javelin. Beech will be with us for one more season.

"CHUCK" BEMIS

"Chawley" was a consistent point-getter in the high jump, and although this branch isn't fully developed in the Conference the Tiger representative was always able to grab off points for the C. C. score sheet.

BASEBALL SEASON OF 1921

Coach Parsons turned out a good baseball team in 1921. The players showed a tendency to hit the ball hard at times and the fielding of the gang was commendable. Leo Downer, who worked in the box, was about the best twirler in the conference, and in some of the games he carried the real brunt of the attack, hitting the ball as well and keeping the opposition's bingles scattered.

The team took its first game at Washburn field, downing the University of Wyoming, 7-4. Harvey caught a wonderful game. Incidentally, this boy topped all the conference stickers with a batting average well above the .400 mark. Downer worked in the box in the opening tilt. He pitched masterly ball.

The second game went to the Cowboys the following day, 6-4, largely because of poor work in the field. Clark Robinson twirled a good game, whiffing eight batters. His defense faltered at critical junctures, however. In this game "Blick" Bleistein, who was by far and away the best shortstopper in the conference, poled out a long hit that went for a homer. Bleistein's favorite spot for his circuit clouts was in right field, and the old sphere certainly did whiz down the line like a shot. In this second game Ball banged out a pair of pretty hits.

Boulder came here next and took away the long end of a 11-4 score. The Tigers made nine errors, seeming to be in a bad streak of bobbling. The errors came at opportune times for State, and the silver and gold took advantage of them. Bleistein made two brilliant catches, one while sitting on the ground near right field. Blick covered a world of territory that day and took everything within miles. Willard worked in the box for Boulder. Charley Ball hit at the right time and drove in two runs with as many bingles. Wessen, Harvey, Amidon and Briggs hit well that day.

The Denver University Ministers drubbed the team at Denver in the next battle. The final score was 6-3. The Sky Pilots were pretty lucky, at that, for Frank Briggs fell in a chuckhole in right field and an easy single went by for a home run and the winning tallies. Harvey was the hitting star, getting three pretty ones. McKenzie opposed Downer on the mound. It was a hard game for Downer to lose. The slabmen were sending them back to the bench in rapid order, however, and were on equal terms.

Colorado Agricultural college bunched hits on Frank and Robinson and took the first game of a double header, 12-6. It was a ragged contest. The Farmers outhit us and deserved the battle. C.C. got only seven hits, all scattered, off Healy.

In the second game Downer found the Tiger team going well, and aided by good playing he managed to whitewash the Aggies, 8-0. Bleistein, at shortstop, handled nine chances at short without an error, and he took some mighty hard chances, too. His fielding and the pitching of Downer featured the exhibition. Harvey and Downer slapped the apple on the nose for triples. Ball had a busy day in the field and gathered in six flies without any difficulty. Downer let the visitors down to three hits. Harvey caught a splendid game and displayed some pretty headwork.

The Miners came here and ran off with a 15-9 score. The Blasters made 13 hits off the Tiger pitchers, hitting Robinson and Downer equally hard. MacDougall played a pretty game in the field and handled six hard chances. The Tiger captain speared one pretty one in short right. Bleistein made two triples, and Amidon started one double play. Five runs in the fourth inning proved the downfall of the team. The game was rather ragged all the way thru. C. C. got to Henderson, the Mines pitcher, and Worden had to be sent in to save game.

In the last game of the season—this is good to tell, listen: Howard Linger, who had been whiffing the breeze for more than two weeks, stepped up to the plate in the eighth inning, and with the bases choked, pelted one of Williams' inshoots over the left field fence at Gamble field. At this time the score had been 4-2, with State leading. The hit put C. C. in the lead and the team won. That hit was enough to win on, but the Tigers continued to hit, and ended up with the best side of an 8-5 count. The Tigers made only one error and Downer kept the hits scattered. Willard, however, banged out two four sackers. Linger made three hits in this game and handled nine putouts at first base. Briggs collected two hits. Captain MacDougall played a fast game at second and handled seven chances.

MacDOUGALL

DON MacDOUGALL

Captain and keystone sacker. Flashy fielder, was Don, and a dangerous man at the plate. Don was also one of the best base runners in the Conference. Played three years in the Tiger nine and will be missed greatly.

"CHUCK" BALL

Charley snared them in the outfield in major league style and was a good baserunner. Pulled off several shoe strings and running catches in the shade garden. Chuck also pelted the ball for a good average.

GEORGE FRANK

Substitute pitcher helped the Tiger swatters out of many holes. With a little more experience and coaching, he will be able to send the best of them back to the bench, wondering what it is all about.

LEO DOWNER

Best hurler in conference going. Won two of his games almost single handed. Had a world of stuff and a good head. Downer really kept the Tigers in the race by his pitching. Will not be baek, and his absenece is keenly felt.

"PIKE" BRUCE

First Baseman, one of the coolest men on the team. Pike made many an opposing pitcher wonder why he left home. Played errorless ball; will be back this season.

"GOB" HARVEY

Did a good job of receiving, and besides being a good catcher, he led the Conference batters with an average of over .400. Gob has three years more with the Tiger nine. Harvey hits with men on bases—which is the real test of a batter.

"HEAVY" LINGER

Played first base and found his batting eye just in time to slam out a home run with the bases jammed at Boulder. Linger was so exhausted after this that he had to take time out. Will not be back.

"BLACKIE" AMIDON

Al proved to be just about the best third sacker in the Conference. Mighty good sticker, this boy, and a sensational fielder. Amidon hit for a mark above 375. Will be one of the strong cogs in this years lineup.

BRUCE

"SLANT" BRIGGS

Played four years in the sun garden. Unqualifiedly the best man in the Conference on the paths. Has a great throwing arm to catch men at the plate. A .366 hitter and a faultless fielder. This ends Slant's athletic career in college.

CLARK ROBINSON, PITCHER

This man played in hard luck, having a sore arm most of the playing season. Will be one of the Bengals most dependable men this season. Beat Wyoming in the first game with his "Slow Ball."

ED PATTERSON

Cavorted in centerfield a la Cobb and Speaker. You can't put any past "Pat." Covers acres of territory and catches them in any position. It was his first year on the team, too.

"SWEDE" WESSON

Ability is thine, lad, "Swede" is a terrific fence buster and kept the carpenters busy repairing smashed gates. He is going to poke them out long and often this spring. Played the outfield in great shape.

FOOTBALL SEASON OF 1921

While the season was not a success, as scores go, there is one thing that may be said, that is that no team in the conference at any time outfought the Tigers. Coach Parsons instilled a real, honest-to-goodness spirit of do or die.

Grand Island College of Nebraska came here first and took a 27-7 beating. Things looked good. It was an early-season game, and several sets of backfield and line men showed up well.

The University of New Mexico came next and was defeated 7-0. This was a good contest, but marred by ineffectual line bucking upon the part of C. C. The Tigers had several opportunities to score and threw them away. Andy Weiss carried over the only touchdown and Captain Linger booted a goal.

The following week the Tigers went to Laramie and trimmed the Cowboys, 10-0. Wyoming showed a stubborn defense, but Captain Linger, in the second half, swiped a forward pass and ran 50 yards for the only touchdown. Linger also booted a placement from the 40-yard line. "Heavy" was so exhausted from his long run, however, that he had to pass up the opportunity to kick the goal from touchdown.

The University of Utah took a heart-breaker the following week, 14-3. That seemed to be the end of chances, somehow. From that game the team failed to show its old strength. Perhaps that strength was never there, but the battle with the Mormons was one of the fiercest ever played on Washburn field. At the half the score was 0-0. In the third quarter Utah earned one touchdown, but they had to fight for it. The defensive strength of the Tiger team never showed to better advantage. Briggs played his greatest game. Nothing went around him. Shortly after that first touchdown the breaks turned against C. C. A fumbled ball was snatched up by Evans on the 5-yard line for a second Mormon touchdown. A few minutes before the close Captain Linger booted a pretty placement from the 40-yard line for the only Tiger points.

The University of Colorado's "wonder team" got a terrible scare the following week. The game had no sooner started than Andy Weiss had scooped up a fumble and raced 70 yards for the initial touchdown. The only other Tiger score was made late in the game. The final score was 35-14. Passes for 35-40-45 and once 50 yards, Muth to Franklin, beat the Tigers. At actual scrimmage the Tigers more than held their even. Before the game C. C. was not conceded a chance.

The Miners took us to a trimming at Denver the following week, 7-0. The Tigers had opportunities to score but did not make the most of them. It was the first game the Ore Diggers had won in years—since Parsons left them in 1918. Several outstanding errors—caused by inexperience, enabled the Miners to finally nose out—C. C. making any number of bad plays.

The last game here with Denver University was one of the season's surprises. It was the only real surprise, for that matter. The Ministers, conceded to be one of the two best teams in the running, bowed to the tailenders, 28-21. This game allowed C. C. to nose out the Miners for sixth place. With Ball at quarter and McMillan at half the backfield found itself. The line opened huge gaps, thru which tore a fast-charging quartet. The Tigers cracked 'em early and continued the pace. The team marched 60 yards down the field thru the much-heralded D. U. defense. Ball, McMillan, Muncaster, Downer, Burghart, Briggs, Linger—the whole team outplayed the Ministers at every angle of the game.

Coach Fred Murphy of D. U. said the Sky Pilots were overconfident. Possibly that was so, but in any frame of mind they might have been—they would have been beaten. It was one day in the year when the men, many of whom played their last game, were out for blood. It was a good team that had to take C. C. revenge, but it was clear-cut and decisive.

The Utah Aggies won the title, and the U. of C. was next. "Bubbles" Mitterwallner was the only man to make a place on the all-conference team. Captain Linger, however, received votes from Coaches Corbett, Murphy, Parsons and Hughes. Briggs, counting first choices only, also placed. MacKenzie, Downer and a few others received votes from coaches and the newspapers.

Goals From Touchdown.

CAPTAIN LINGER

CAPT.-ELECT WAISS

CAPTAIN HOWARD LINGER

Played his third year with the team and was the choice of some newspapers for all-conference position. "Heavy" put in several points in the Tiger total with his goals from the field. Linger is an aggressive player and proved to be a capable captain for the eleven.

CAPTAIN-ELECT HAROLD WAISS

This is his third year on the team. Put up a great game in the line and was a vicious tackler. Was the choice of some newspapers for all-conference. "Andy" never got ruffled in a game in his life. Scored the first touchdown against Boulder by running 70 yards after intercepting a State pass. Will be a mighty efficient field captain this fall.

HOWARD MUNCASTER

"Stormy" has the weight and aggressiveness to make a whirlwind lineman, and during his time in the game in 1922, he showed natural talent. Played exceptionally well in the D. U. fray and opened holes wide enough to drive a horse thru and then have room to spare. Hard-hitting and one of the certainties for this year.

IAN MacKENZIE

"Kenz" made all-conference two years and was one of the grittiest players who ever wore a Tiger suit. Played against difficulties in injuries, but he never left the battle for an instant. MacKenzie cracks 'em and hits 'em hard, and he has been a bulwark in the lines of C. C. teams for the last quartet of years.

PERRY GREINER

"Pep" jumped into prominence at fullback and played a good game until the Mines skirmish, when a hard tackle put his shoulder out of place. He was perhaps the best punter in the conference and got his kicks away to a lofty spiral that enabled the ends to get down under the ball and grab their man. Back this year. Should develop into one of the best.

EDWARD PATTERSON

Pat played his first year at halfback, and tho he was inexperienced he showed flashes of form that bid well for his showing this season. He possesses natural ability and can be made into a valuable man with more coaching. Good on the receiving end of the forward pass. Should make all-conference before he leaves here.

MAX WILSON

"Stoop" was the human octopus at grabbing the runner, and he could get thru and smear things in terrible fashion. He was a plugger and managed to break thru the line with regularity. Came here from the University of Pennsylvania, where he was a member of the freshman team. Unfortunately, he will not be back, having left school.

EARL HARVEY

"Gob" is a dependable end, and one that has made good. He was injured in the Wyoming game and had bad luck the rest of the season. This put the clamps on his work and forced him from the game. This year he is due to round out a slashing line. He's a good tackler and a very valuable offensive cog.

BOB BURGHART

Bob earned a regular position at halfback his first season out, and in the Boulder game he showed at his best, being the most dependable man in the C. C. backfield on the old off-tackle buck that was used so often in that battle. Burghart weighs a little over 155 but is fast and is a natural charger. Much is expected of him next fall.

MAL, MacDOUGALL

Played three years with Tiger teams, and at end handled the forward pass in good fashion. The "fighting Scotchman" had a glower that always put the fear of God into the hearts of the opposition. Last year with the team.

LEO DOWNER

Mighty good forward passer and good kicker. Took Greiner's place after the Mines game and showed up well against both the Miners and D. U. Left school and thus deprived the school of a standby for next year.

TED WESSEN

Played his second year with the Tigers and did a mighty sweet job of defensive work in the line. "Swede" is a born football player, has the heart and is one of the most deadly tacklers and blockers in the conference. Quick to diagnose the attack and get his man. He is light but this seems to be no handicap whatsoever.

DON McMILLAN

"Runt" played four years and was known as a fightin' fool. He never really found his position until his last game as a Tiger, when at halfback against D. U., he plowed thru the Minister line for one gain after another. He is one of the hardest line smashers that ever wore the Black and Gold.

JOE BRUCE

Pike is a rangy end whose basketball knowledge enabled him to bring down forward passes in great shape. Also substituted at quarterback and ran the team well. A four-letter man with a real fighting spirit and worlds of experience. Can be depended upon to be with us for a few more years.

FRANK BRIGGS

Three years for all-conference, and perhaps the greatest end the Tigers have ever had. Briggs was in the thick of every play and was a deadly tackler. His most phenomenal game, perhaps, was against the University of Utah last year, when he stopped everything around his position and went back to get men starting in their tracks. "Slant" has ended his football career, and he will be greatly missed this fall. His name is engraved in football's hall of fame forever.

CHUCK BALL

Played four years with C. C. football teams, and despite frequent injuries he was a valuable man in the backfield. Ball was a hard hitter and a good defensive man. He played against some of the best teams of the last four years and wound up his career in a blaze of glory, when, as quarterback, he directed the Black and Gold to a crowning triumph over Denver University. This game marked the highwater of Chuck's gridiron performance and his loss is going to prove a serious one.

MERWIN MITTERWALLNER

"Bubbles" came down here from Boulder and the 205-pound tackle proceeded to make all-conference his first year out. He was the unanimous choice of the coaches for his position. His game improved from the first game on, and against D. U. he was at his best. He is equally good on the offense and defense and will be one of the bulwarks of the 1923 team.

COACH C. L. PARSONS

"Poss" has been with us for three years and has turned out two championships in that time, one, the 1919 Colorado title in football, and this year the Rocky Mountain conference basketball gonfalon. With so small a school this is by no means an easy achievement.

BASKETBALL SEASON OF 1922

After the University of Colorado had held the Rocky Mountain conference basketball championship for four successive years it fell to the Colorado College Tigers to turn the tide against the State warriors and trim them twice, once on their floor, and once here, a feat that had not been accomplished for many years. Boulder claimed that their hard luck down here was due to glass backboards. They were beaten by only three points, 36-33. So a few weeks later the Bengal tribe journeyed to State's stamping grounds and gave Coach Mills' aggregation an unmerciful walloping, 42-25. 'This just about settled the glass backboard howl. At least, we haven't heard of it since.

To begin the season—Denver university came under the hatchet in the first game, 49-26. The Ministers had a prayer and one good forward. After the first team had run up a score giving a comfortable margin the subs were ushered in and completed the slaughter.

Colorado Aggies, the big boys from Fort Collins, the lads who squelched the last, fading hopes of the Miners for a tie for the title, came next and took a trimming. The score was 31-11. The guarding of the Farmers was good, but their shooting was nil against the Tiger defense.

The Aggies came next at Fort Collins, and they gave the Bengals a real scare. Bruce, playing under the handicap of a high fever, made the longest shot recorded in conference annals when he stood under the Aggie basket and put one in from the entire length of the floor. This changed the tide of battle and we won by a last minute spurt. The score was 31-24.

Wyoming came next at Laramie. Playing on a narrow floor the Tigers utilized the disadvantages in their favor and won handily, 43-11. The Cowboys said they had never witnessed such a passing game. Their five-man defense failed to work and they were at a loss to cope with the onslaught.

The School of Mines lost the next battle. It was close, 32-23, and the next night they turned the tables, 37-28. Both games were the roughest of the year, but at Golden. Art Bunte began to use his "rabbit foot" and shot 'em over his head, while sitting on the floor—and so the Miners evened up.

Boulder lost down here, 36-33, due to a last-minute rally by the Tigers. They howled their protest, but a week later they had to swallow their words when the Bengal tribe turned and dealt revenge, 42-25. It was a demoralized State team when the Tigers attack started its work. It was a complete rout for Boulder and it ended a very disastrous season for them.

Going on to Denver, the Tigers wound up the year with a 45-25 victory. Denver scribes adjudged the team the greatest that had played on a conference floor in years. Nothing but praise came from fans who saw that game. It was rough but fast. Bowman starred for Denver, but he was not good enough for five men.

To Coach C. L. Parsons goes a great deal of credit for the success of the team. He stuck to what he believed was the best system of basketball—and truly it was. At Kansas City, where the Tigers were entered in the national open tournament, Indianapolis won, 45-42, but it was a hard-fought game, and the Hoosiers later proved to be one of the three best teams entered. That is a tribute to Parsons' coaching and a credit to the playing of each and every member of the conference champions.

The final standings:

HARVEY

CAPTAIN-ELECT EARL HARVEY

"Gob" was selected all-conference guard on the second team. He played a standing guard. Harvey is hard to elude and an air-tight defensive man. He is a consistent, hard-playing and always dependable man, and his weight and strength proved to be a mighty obstacle to opposing forwards. He was a unanimous choice for the captaincy and deserved his place by his work during the 1922 season.

CAPTAIN LESTER MacTAVISH

Played four years with the Tigers and was adjudged one of the best centers in the conference. Was given all-conference second team choice by a vote of the coaches. A wonderful jumper, fast and an excellent floor man, perhaps the best in the conference with regard to this last department. As captain of the Rocky Mountain conference champions, Les gave everything he had, sacrificed individual work, and was a steady and capable leader. This is his last year, and his shoes are going to be hard to fill.

JOE BRUCE

Pike also made 120 points for the Tiger team this year and was chosen all-conference forward. His "get a man," and "hook 'em," could be heard thru the gym during every game. That was typical of his fighting spirit and slashing play. Was everywhere at once, and there isn't any trick of the game he doesn't understand. His never-miss shots under the basket made him a sure bet, no matter how close the battle. His long shots also featured a great team attack. Has played two years and has two more to go. Should make all-conference again.

ROBERT ALLEN

Came from Wheatridge High School, where he had established an enviable reputation for his unerring shots. Ran wild against the University of Wyoming down here and hung up 25 points, enough to beat the Cowboys unaided. He is a 100 per cent. machine in the art of hanging up free throws, never missing.

FRANCIS RYAN

"Swede" played a wonderful game at running guard. He can go up above the basket to take rebounds, pass with either hand, and do it accurately, and is a flash on both offense and defense. In his place he was a great cog of a fast-moving machine. Made all-conference and deserved it. It was his second year and he will live up to expectations for two more.

ED PATTERSON

Pat rolled up 120 pounds during the season, and could locate the basket from either long or short distance with deadly accuracy. Plays a great floor game, is fast, and a natural basketball man. Was selected all-conference by almost unanimous vote of the coaches.

ED RYAN

A pocket-size edition of his brother, "France." Just about as good, and that is saying a great deal. This was his first year, and in the three years remaining he should get an all-conference berth. His type of play is a slashing, whirlwind defensive, and Ed is mighty hard to evade.

WRESTLING AND BOXING, 1922

The Tiger wrestling team, under the direction of Coach Harvey Donaldson, turned out one champion of the 175-pound class. Jack Daywalt was the only C. C. entry in the Rocky Mountain conference tournament to get thru the finals. Daywalt, at that, weighed in at 160 and had to give away several pounds to every man he met. Padgett got into the semifinals and only lost in his final bout on a decision. This youngster showed up mighty well. He is clever, sturdy and knows all the tricks of the game.

Denver University defeated C. C. in the dual meet, 5-2. Padgett and Williamson, in the 125 and 115-pound classes, respectively, won the only bouts taken by the Bengals. Later, because of a ruling, an extra man was allowed, and Daywalt stepped out and proved a winner. D. U. had no boxing team, so C. C. qualified seven men. Just before the time of the conference meet arrived, however, ineligibilities shot the chances of the team, and Moore, a 145-pounder, Maher at 135 pounds, and a few others who had been showing well, were not able to make the trip.

Bemis, one of C. C.'s. best point getters, had to quit early in the season because of illness. Carter also became ineligible.

These setbacks prevented "Shorty" from placing a strong team in either boxing or wrestling. He developed several good men, only to see them ruled out.

Wyoming and the Aggies tied for first place in the conference meet. State was second, and the Tigers, Mines and D. U. tied for third place. Providing some of the promising men can get eligible next year the outlook in both boxing and wrestling is good.

TENNIS, 1921

Colorado College won the Rocky Mountain conference championship in tennis for the 1921 season.

The first call for candidates resulted in a large entry list. A tournament was held and eliminations were gone thru, the result being that the squad narrowed to four men. Ben Sweet, Herman Clow, Larry Wolfe, and Ralph Hankins then came thru with a championship.

The championship tourney was held at Denver. Wolfe, Clow and Hankins grabbed off their singles matches, the last match going to Carpenter of the School of Mines. In the doubles, Wolfe and Hankins and Clow and Sweet defeated their opponents rather easily.

These four men are among the best amateur tennis players in the state, if not the west.

GOLF, 1921

For the first time in the history of Colorado College golf took a prominent place on the sport calendar in 1921. The Tiger team, consisting of Acting Captain Hubert Clay, Ray Purington, Stuart Armit and Les MacTavish, made a strong combination in the art of "hunting golfs."

The team won from Denver University and the Miners in dual meets. Another dual meet, this with the University of Colorado, went to the State quartet.

The conference meet was held on the Lakewood course in Denver. State took first place, while Colorado College and the School of Mines tied for second position. Boulder annexed 11 points, while the Tigers and Mines bunch got 10 each. It was a close meet, where one bad putt prevented a title coming here.

There is a world of material on hand for this season. The conference meet is to be held on the Broadmoor course. MacTavish and Armit are back. It looks like a Tiger victory this time. The meet is scheduled for late in May. The game has made a hit in the conference and good matches are expected.

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL, 1921

Under the capable guidance of Coach Harry Holman and Assistant Coach M. A. Jencks, the Freshmen Football Team went through a very successful season.

The yearlings rounded into shape rather swiftly and for their first game were matched with the St. Regis College team of Denver. The game was played the morning of home-coming day and the Freshmen won by a score of 7-0.

The team next tangled with Greeley Teachers College. The Freshmen were outweighed but not outplayed and sent the upstaters home to the tune of 14-0. As in the St. Regis game, the Frosh would work the ball into scoring distance only to lose it. Finally with only five minutes to play, MacDougall blocked a kick and Dill scooped it up, scoring on the play. Greeley protested the touchdown on the grounds that Dill had run out of bounds, and threatened to forfeit the game if the protest was not allowed. After arguing some time they consented to play the rest of the game and the Frosh, thoroughly enraged, scored another touchdown in three minutes by straight football. The quickness with which the last score was made is clearly explained. The field was getting dark and the Freshmen had had so much practice playing against the Varsity at dusk that they just naturally played the Teachers off their feet.

At the close of the season, Coach Parsons arranged a regular game between the second Varsity and the Freshmen. On a snow covered field, and with the yells of thousands of frenzied spectators ringing in their ears, the Freshmen slid a touchdown over the Second Team's goal.

The following men were awarded numerals:

Briggs (Capt.)	Babcock	Delaney	Govereau
Cornell	Arms	Hunt	Tucker (Mgr.)
Zickefoose	MacDougall	Matthews	Cox
Eaken	Muncy	Hope	Taft
Schaede	Hunter	Hamilton	Moreland

STUDENT COMMISSION

1921-22 has been a busy year for the Student Commission. Its most marked activities have been the plans for a number of affairs which have included the whole student body in their guest lists. The Home-Coming Week, which they planned was the most successful in years, bringing back over three hundred alumni. The first big reception to students and faculty was given by the Commission. The All-College Picnic and several All-College dances were given under its supervision. Campus clean-up day was planned by the Commission and its results brought much favorable comment from the townspeople.

Don McMillan headed the Commission the first semester, and after his resignation, Doris Haymes, the vice-president, took his place for the second semester. These officers, as well as Mary Clegg Owen the secretary and Ian V. MacKenzie, the treasurer, were elected by popular vote, in accordance with the changes made in the constitution in 1921.

The following members made up the Council: Alice Sweet, Y. W. C. A.; Frances Tucker, Women's Athletic Association; Della K. Scott, Town Girls' Association; Gladys Glendenning, Student Government Association; Gertrude Klein, Intersociety Council; Charles Ball, Athletic Board; A. R. C. Wardwell, Tiger; Howard Linger, succeeded by Frank Briggs, Inter-Fraternity Council; Ira Hicks, succeeded by Glenn Scott, Independent Club; Earl Harvey, Sophomore Class; Ed Morath, Freshman Class; and Mark Skidmore, Faculty.

MINERVA

Minerva is the oldest organization on the campus having been organized in the fall of 1891. In the early days of the society, meetings were held in the basement of Palmer Hall (now Cutler). In a few years, however, the girls were permitted to use, jointly with Apollonian, Society Hall. It was turned over entirely to Minerva when Apollonian disbanded and has been known since that time as Minerva Club House. On the afternoons of February fifteenth and sixteenth of this year, the active members of the society held a housewarming for alumnae and freshmen girls.

In the days before the organization of the Dramatic Club, Minerva presented several farces each year, and in May 1904 very successfully produced "The Winter's Tale."

For a number of years Minerva held an annual Fair, which has been adopted by the Y. W. C. A. and has been transformed into the Y. W. Circus. It was also the custom of Minerva to entertain their friends with a spring dance in the "Jungle." This has also been taken over by the Y. W. C. A. and is now known as the Annual May Festival.

During the thirty years of its existence, Minerva has received into fellowship three hundred eighty seven members. Alumnae associations in Boston, New York City, Denver and Colorado Springs are typical of the fulfillment of one of Minerva's highest aims—sincere and enduring friendship.

"ONCE A MINERVAN, ALWAYS A MINERVAN."

CONTEMPORARY

Twenty-two years ago on November 14, 1899, twenty-one girls met together to form a society under the name "Sigma Nu," "second to none." The original purpose of this society which soon became known as "The Contemporary Club," was to "cultivate the art of speaking and sustain an interest in literary work." Their colors were the red and white; the flower, the cardinal carnation, while the Gothic "C" was taken as the emblem. Miss Marion Williams, '02, was the first president.

The first meetings were held in the new Perkins Memorial. Later, they met in Palmer Hall, until the classes crowded them out. They then moved to a little wooden building where Cossitt now stands, which they shared with Pearson's Dramatic Club. About ten years ago, Contemporary moved to Wolcott Observatory, where it has been ever since.

Until 1913, there was no eligibility council and rivalry for membership was very strong. It was so much like a local sorority that the authorities of the college forced the societies to adopt the present system. This has resulted in its being necessary for a girl to live up to certain qualifications before she can be admitted in the middle of her sophomore year.

In 1917, came the gift of one thousand dollars to create a scholarship fund, the income of which is to be awarded through the Club. The fund is known as the Alice Kidder Memorial Fund.

There are about four hundred fifty alumnae, organized in the Contemporary Alumnae Association. A bulletin published every two years keeps every member in touch with the other alumnae and with the active chapter.

Not for Contemporary alone but for Contemporary and Colorado College is the toast of the members.

HYPATIA

Hypatia, the youngest of the girls' societies in Colorado College, was organized in the fall of 1903. Much encouragement was given by Minerva and Contemporary as well as the faculty of the College. After the greater part of the Greek alphabet had been suggested for a name "Hypatia" was decided upon by the twenty-eight members. Green and white were selected for the colors, and the white daisy with its golden heart, for the flower.

In 1905, Hypatia's first annual function was held. It was a dinner dance at the Antlers Hotel. The 1921 function, held early in the spring was at the Broadmoor Hotel.

In their early history, the Hypatians gave a supper every fall to Minerva, Contemporary and the new girls of the College. This affair has now evolved into an annual Autumn Tea given during Home Coming Week. This year the Initiation Breakfast was served the next morning at the Broadmoor Hotel.

The Hypatians meet every Friday afternoon in their clubroom, Ticknor Study, to enjoy a program and a social hour. The first subject they took up in 1903, was "Greek Art." This was followed by a study of the art of all other countries. Last year "The Opera" was discussed. "Contemporary Drama" is the subject around which the programs are built this year. The purpose of such meetings is to enlarge the culture of Hypatia's members and in the fellowship enjoyed to encourage the growth of character.

The Town Girls Association of 1921-22 boasts of a membership of over one hundred, the largest in the history of the organization. It corresponds to the Student Government Association in that it organizes the Colorado Springs girls, enabling them to know each other better by providing a series of informal meetings with short programs followed by refreshments and dancing, aside from the traditional dance and breakfast.

The Town Girls Association plans for sponsors from the Senior and Junior classes for the new girls in the fall. This year the new girls were allowed to choose their sponsors and the system worked very well.

The first Monday in September after College opened, the Association held a picnic in Monument Park.

In October the Seniors and Juniors entertained the other members with a Hallowe'en party in Ticknor study. In November the annual costume dance took place, bringing out a huge crowd of fantastic figures, ranging in color and costume from a very black Aunt Jemima and Sambo through a great variety of gypsies and harem queens to the daintiest of ballet dancers.

The Sophomores entertained with a Christmas party on December 14, with a short program and dancing. February's party honored St. Valentine and March's St. Patrick. An April Fool party brought the girls together for one last good time before the spring vacation and in May the annual breakfast took place in South Cheyenne Canon.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club was organized in the second semester of the year 1920-21, in an attempt to reorganize the Chemistry Club which was active until the death of Dr. Wm. Strieby, head of the Chemistry department, who died on October 18, 1920. It was the intention of a group of chemistry assistants to form a club for themselves. The constitution was drawn up and adopted by them and officers were elected. They were then asked to enlarge the organization to take in students who were majoring in a science, and voted to take students from the departments of biology, chemistry, mathematics, physics and psychology. The professors and instructors of the departments were given honorary membership. Before becoming a member a student must have six semester hours credit in the department in which he is majoring. The officers this year are: President, Carl Brumfield; vice-president, Fern Pring; secretary, Harry Newman; treasurer Chester Shaffer; Tiger correspondent, Douglas Corley; Dr. Douglas is the faculty advisor.

The purpose of the club is to promote interest in science, to encourage research, and to give the members a general knowledge of all sciences included. Meetings are held every second Tuesday evening when papers are read by members or when speakers are brought from outside the club.

Although the Club is a new organization it now has about twenty-five members. For the organization and success of the Club much credit is due to the work of Dr. F. W. Douglas, Dr. R. J. Gilmore, the president and vice-president.

C. C. ORCHESTRA

The Colorado College Orchestra is an organization composed of the best musical talent on the campus. It holds its meetings on Wednesday nights at eight o'clock. The orchestra has been in existence for only a few years, and it is already one of the strongest musical organizations in College. Edwin A. Dietrich, a graduate of the Leipzig Konservatorium, is the director. He is one of the foremost orchestra conductors of the West, and the instructor in violin of the school of music of Colorado College.

The greater part of the activity of the orchestra is in the spring but occasionally it has been called upon to furnish musical programs for the chapel exercises. One of the most interesting of these programs, from the point of view of entertainment, was given last fall. The feature of this was the Children's Symphony in which H. Howard Brown starred, showing wonderful mastery of the tin horn.

Mr. Dietrich expects to use the orchestra in his annual concert given at the Burns theater. No other public performances have been arranged as yet but the orchestra is available for any College activity in which it is needed.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Le Cercle Francais was first established as an organization in Colorado College in the fall of 1907. At this time about eight students of advanced French founded the club with the hearty co-operation of the Romance Language Department. Since then it has grown and developed, its purpose being to promote a love of the French language and to help its members to a mastery of spoken French. At different times plays have been presented by the club. The meetings are bi-monthly, the first part of the meeting being devoted to a regular program, after which French games are played and French songs are learned. The club has been very ably supported by Professor Skidmore, to whose enthusiasm and tireless energy the success of the year is due.

THE TIGER CLUB

The Tiger Club, while not an outstanding organization on the campus, is made up of all of the girls in the school, and furnishes a means by which girls can manifest their enthusiasm in an organized manner at varsity athletic games. Since there is a tradition prevalent that "young ladies do not yell," the "pep" of the girls is shown in singing songs, of which C. C. is fortunate in having a large number. At the beginning of each year, the girls elect one of their number as a leader to look after necessary details of special features in which the girls take part, floats in parades, etc. The fact that the men of the school give such unbounded "pep" and forget that the girls are also keenly interested in athletics and wish to evidence their enthusiasm, makes the functioning of the Tiger Club particularly difficult. However, when the millenium will have arrived and woman has convinced man of her legitimate status in life, the men of C. C. will be willing to give their sisters a hearing.

THE GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club was organized in October, 1898. The first concert, in 1901, was held in the Congregational Church, with great success. Although during this time everything ran smoothly and the Club grew in importance and worth, it was found expedient to disorganize for a few years until sufficient resources could be amassed with which to stabilize the Club, purchase equipment, and stimulate interest. In 1911, therefor, under Mrs. Taliaferro, the organization was put on a sound basis.

The Executive Board of the Club, in 1918, offered the place of Conductor to Mrs. John Speed Tucker. This has been Mrs. Tucker's fourth year of responsibility and each annual report has shown a marked increase in the ability, strength and worth of the Club.

Each year the work has been put on a little higher level, for in 1919 an Operetta, "The Lost Necklace," was given with entire satisfaction; last year Tennyson's immortal "Lady of Shalot," with a peculiarly appropriate and beautiful musical setting was presented to an enthusiastic audience; and this year an Indian Operetta "Se-a-wa-na," was offered to a capacity house. That many believe this last to have been the most successful of all, and that a great and abiding interest in the Club is being displayed by Freshmen and new girls, speaks well for the future of the association which is coming more and more into prominence as one of the larger college organizations.

K. U. K.

K. U. K. is an organization for the discussion of Current Events and was founded January 27, 1919. It came into existence largely thru the efforts of Prof. Dice and Prof. Ellingwood. Robert Sevitz, a member of the class of '20 was the first president. The club has gradually drifted into the discussion of International relations, and is now affiliated with the International Relation Society. This society endowed by the Carnegie estate is sending out men to speak to groups that are discussing Foreign relations. The society with these men hopes to create a better understanding by dissimulating authentic first hand information. Dr. Muirhead, the Scotchman, from the University of Birmingham, Dr. Zimmerman from Oxford and Dr. Joshi, the Hindu, from the University of Bombay, were all brought here thru this society.

A.-B. CLUB

The A.-B. Club was organized this fall for the purpose of promoting the interests of the business students in business affairs. The Club is composed of students taking at least two business courses or two courses applying on a business major. They also must maintain a grade of "B" or better in these courses. The purpose of the Club is twofold; first to promote an interest in business courses and, second, to create a much needed open forum for discussions of general interest to students. Although this is the Club's first year, it is sincerely hoped that it may continue to be a success and also a help to the students

FORTNIGHTLY SKETCH CLUB

The Fortnightly Sketch Club was organized in 1918 by members of the Academy of Fine Arts, and had for its purpose the promotion of art interests among the students of the Academy and the College.

The Club started with twelve charter members. The first president was the late Marjorie Dudley, the vice-president, Jessie Foster. During 1919, under the presidency of Helen Cogswell, the club became a student organization with a membership of twenty eight. The activities of this year consisted of a dance at San Luis School, and a sale of student's work was held later. Half the proceeds were donated to the Women's Educational Society. In the spring the club held a "Gipsy Tea"—an attractive social affair.

The following year Maude Allen was elected president and the social event of the year was an entertainment at Cogswell Theater, consisting of tableaux, living pictures and solo dances, followed by a tea at Bemis Hall.

The president this year is Daisy McEntire and the activities of the club have consisted of a picnic at Prospect Lake and a sale of paper Tiger mascots. Half of the proceeds of this sale were donated to the Athletic Fund.

Meetings are held every two weeks at the Academy of Fine Arts, Perkins Hall.

EUTERPE

Euterpe was preceded by the Picrian Society founded by Dean Hale in 1908. That society ran a rather brief course: a very small but aggressive group conceived the idea of making a secret society out of it. The Dean explained that C. C. policy did not approve the Sorority idea. Later he was obliged to explain further that the club would have to choose between the Greek letter obsession and demise. Demise!

Two years later, at about the time he organized the Girl's Glee Club, Dean Hale founded Euterpe, with its motto "Good Work and Lend a Hand" (Suggested by Mr. Thornton), and a constitution which insured among other things a democratic organization and policy.

Any member of the School of Music is eligible, and its administration is in the hands of the active membership. It has also an associate and honorary membership. Euterpe meets fortnightly in private homes. The programs are musical, sometimes with papers, sometimes with addresses from visitors. It so fulfills the purpose expressed in its preamble, to promote the social life and the interests of the School, and the cause of music.

THE MENS' GLEE CLUB

In the Collegian, the forerunner of the Tiger, under the date of November 20, 1896, mention is made of a rumor that a Glee Club is to be formed. It was not until a year later, however, that sixteen students under the leadership of one of their number, Richard Lamson, organized the Colorado College Glee Club.

During the quarter of a century of its existence the Club has been to the four corners of the State, and as far away as Ogden, Utah, Cheyenne, Wyoming and down into New Mexico. It has met with undeniable success wherever it has gone. It has sung for the G. A. R., for the Chamber of Commerce, in municipal orchestra concerts in Denver and Colorado Springs, and lately for the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. After General W. J. Palmer met with the accident that restricted his outside activities, it was the annual custom of the Glee Club to sing to him in the splendid music room of Glen Eyrie.

President Slocum used to say that the Glee Club was the best advertising medium the College had. The Club has carried the name of Colorado College into many high schools and into out-of-the-way places where athletic teams cannot go.

COLORADO COLLEGE BAND

The first Colorado College band was organized in 1915 with a total of nineteen members. Since that year, there have been bands of more or less merit organized to furnish music at the games. All service in the band has been purely voluntary, no official recognition being given. In the fall of 1919, the band was given a trip to Boulder, when the president, Roy Gleason, borrowed the necessary funds. The money was later repaid from the proceeds of an All College dance.

In 1920-21, Mr. Fink was the leader but it became so difficult to hold practices due to lack of attendance of the members that they were discontinued. Since then, the members have come out to games and parades and played as best they could at whatever piece of music was set before them. During the last two years, the band has been given the privilege of playing at the games, the admission of the members being paid when they obtained their student passes.

This year, only a few practices have been held, but the band has played at all the football games and in every parade but one. The showing made this year was rather poor on account of many of the members not turning out for practice, but the band is not discouraged and hopes to be a real credit to Colorado College next year.

THE PHILIP WASHBURN EPISCOPAL CLUB

The Episcopal club of Colorado College was organized in St. Stephens parish in October of 1921.

After sending a delegate to the National Student Council of the Episcopal Church for the province of the Northwest, held at Lincoln, Nebraska, the club voted to become affiliated with the national organization and to accept the minimum programs prescribed by that organization.

The meetings of the club are semi-monthly, on the alternate Sunday evenings beginning with the first week in the college year.

The object of the club is: to promote a sense of responsibility among the Episcopal men and women of the college for the increase in church attendance and an improvement of church loyalty, to bring into church relations such students as have no church home in the city, and to extend to men and women away from home the acquaintance and protection of the church community.

The club has been entertained at the homes of several of the prominent Episcopalians of this city. Several social affairs given by the club itself has added to the enjoyment and interest of the more serious side of the work. The club has been greatly hindered with matters of organization but in the future expects to take an important part in the activities of the college.

THE WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Women's Athletic Association of Colorado College was organized in the spring of 1915, with the object of promoting interest in sports for women by putting their athletics on a competitive basis.

All women students upon payment of their athletic fee to the college, become members of the association. They elect the members of the Executive Board which is composed of the regular officers of the association together with the 'Head' of each of the sports.

There are two insignia given for competitive contests—the class numerals and the emblem of the Women's Athletic Association, which is a double C. The numerals are awarded to the winners of the fall tennis tournament, of the swimming contest and to those students making high scores in the indoor gymnastic meet held in the early spring before outdoor sports begin. The emblem is awarded at the end of the spring term on an individual basis with a point system as the foundation. Seventy women have earned this emblem up to the present time. A silver cup trophy has often been presented to the winner of the spring tennis tournament.

The Women's Athletic Association can mean little or much, according to the interest shown by the women students in their own athletics and sports.

MANDOLIN CLUB

The Mandolin Club was organized in the fall of 1918. That winter it appeared with the Glee Club in their concert giving a gypsy scene. The total membership was then nine with Miss Anne Elstun as leader. Since then the number of members, quality of musicians, and variety of instruments has steadily grown. It has been the annual custom to give an afternoon dance to raise funds for expenses. Playing for several of the 'Girls' augments this. Usually the Mandolin Club assisted the Glee Club with their concerts. This year, however, plans are under way for a unique concert of their own. The outcome of this is yet to be seen.

For this, music has been gathered from all parts of the world, eight nations being represented. These are: Ireland, France Spain, Italy, China, Hawaii, Denmark and Mexico. In the concert-to-be, these nations will be represented by songs, dances, solos, orchestra numbers and mandolin numbers. Great interest is being aroused in this subject, and the chances for success are on the increase.

The club is very generous with its talent, playing gratuitously for many things in school and in town. The girls work hard. . . . . Their meetings, which occur each week, are devoted to practice. A chosen member from the Mandolin Club forms the music committee for the Dramatic Club.

Y. W. C. A.

In the year 1888, Miss Eloise Wickard, an instructor in English at Colorado College, organized a Young Women's Christian Association for the girls of the College. There were twenty members. Meetings were held in Society Hall (a part of Cutler) until it became the college library; then in the Museum. When Montgomery Hall was erected its meetings were held there until the erection of Ticknor Hall in 1899. Ticknor became the meeting place for a number of years, giving way to Bemis Hall, where the meetings are now held.

Not until 1892 was the Association firmly established. At this time Miss Elizabeth Wilson, a traveling secretary of the International Y. W. C. A. visited the college and through her, the college Y. W. C. A. joined the International Association.

Until a few years ago any girl in college who was a member of an Evangelical Church might become an active member. Those who were not members of such churches could be only associate members. Now the basis of membership is changed. A personal pledge must be taken by every girl who desires to become a member of the Y. W. C. A. She must state "It is my purpose to live as a true follower of the Lord Jesus Christ."

The Association's executive board is composed of the Cabinet, which is made up of the president and the chairmen of the committees. The work of the Y. W. C. A. is carried on by these committees.

The activities of the Y. W. C. A. which are social in character, start with a reception at the first of the year for the new girls of the college.

The aim of the Association is: "A Whole Christianity for the Whole individual, for the Whole World."

ATHENIAN SOCIETY

Athenian is one of the new campus organizations, being founded in 1919, largely through the effort of Miss Hutsinpillar, of the English Department. The purpose of the society is to encourage active participation in debating among the women students of Colorado College. It is hoped that in time such activity will lead to the establishing of a public speaking department in the college.

The first regular meeting of the Athenian Society was held on March 8, 1920. Katherine Wilson was elected as the first president.

Membership is open to all Senior, Junior and Sophomore women. Each applicant for membership is required to give a five minute argument on either side of a question chosen by the society as the subject for "try out". By vote of the society, faculty members, who show an interest in the work of Athenian may become honorary members.

Miss Della Scott, a charter member of Athenian, has the honor of being the first woman of Colorado College to take in an inter-collegiate debate. She was a member of the team that defeated the University of New Mexico debating team in 1920.

The program for this year has consisted largely of discussions and debates on questions of foreign relations. Interesting and instructive debates have resulted from the discussion of such questions as disarmament, the foreign policy of Japan, and extra territoriality in China.

BIOLOGICAL PERIPATETICS

History repeats itself. Philosophers of old discoursed voluminously on subjects of nature while perambulating leisurely under the clear blue skies of ancient Greece. Emulating their noble example, the biologists of Colorado College have chosen to wander afield and 'list to Nature's teaching'. At stated and unstated intervals this knowledge seeking band abandon the massive halls of learning and mingle with things as they are in the places where they are.

The Peripatetics were organized during the grasshopper season of 1921. Membership is limited to those who by prospect and practice, labor diligently in quest of Nature's hidden truths. Each conclave is an expedition to some secluded recess where peaceful contemplation of Nature may be consummated without the intrusion of the uninitiated.

The following are the charter members: Ralph J. Gilmore, Ruth A. Gilmore, Harry L. Fling, Florence M. Brumback, Thelma F. Kaufman, Evelyn Arkwright, Olive E. Haun, Elizabeth Knox, Dorothy Matthews, Josephine H. Miller, Eunice McCampbell, Ora J. Gjerde, Allison G. James, 'Bill' Gilmore, Helen Armstrong, Harriet L. Mason, Russell P. ## YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN LEAGUE

From the beginning of Colorado College as an institution of higher learning to the time of the World War, the Young Men's Christian Association had a very important place in the life of the college. The work of the Y, as well as that of many other organizations, was interrupted by the war and when things got back to normal again it was thought best to organize an independent organization, the name of which should be the Men's Christian League of Colorado College. Such an organization was formed in October, 1920, with about seventy-five men signing the constitution.

During this year the organization has not held regular meetings but has tried especially to direct the religious life through the already existing agencies. Students have been urged to become interested in the churches of the city. The organization has co-operated with Prof. Drucker in his social service work at Papetown. A special drive was put on for the Student Friendship Fund in December and about one hundred dollars was raised.

HAGERMAN HALL ASSOCIATION

The growth of Colorado College has been due to the generosity of thousands of men and women. In 1888 when Dr. Slocum accepted the presidency of Colorado College, a great problem confronted him. There was no place on the campus in which the men of the college might reside. They were forced to live in private houses throughout the city and with the increase in number this was becoming more and more difficult.

President Slocum immediately started to raise money to erect a building to fill this need. He soon interested Mr. J. J. Hagerman, one of the public-spirited men of the city in his undertaking. It was largely through the financial assistance of Mr. Hagerman that in 1889 Hagerman Hall was constructed.

This building had rooms to accommodate some fifty or sixty men. The basement was turned into a gymnasium and dining room, and for many years 'Hag' was the center of the college. It was here that Coach Richard and later Coach Rothgeb turned out teams which added to the glory of Colorado College. The athletic function has been taken over by Cossitt

Memorial Hall. However, Hagerman Hall still is used as a men's dormitory and Hagerman Hall Association is the name which has been applied to the organization of the men of Hagerman Hall. This organization aims to promote college spirit and friendship among all those with whom it comes into contact.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The young women in residence at Colorado College desire to assume individual and community responsibility for the conduct of the young women in their college life. Accordingly some years ago, the President and Faculty of Colorado College authorized the Student Government Association to exercise the power that was committed to it, with the most careful regard, both for liberty and order and for the maintenance of the established policy of the College in regard to the best conditions for scholarly work and a social and religious life for the young women. This policy has been framed with the basal idea of maximum liberty and minimum restraint; of the utmost freedom of individual action possible in community life where the highest mental and moral development, the habitual exercise of established social usages and sane religious thinking are the ends sought.

The members of the Student Government Board are chosen by the young women in the halls.

The aim of the Student Government Association is to support the authorities of the College and to co-operate with them in maintaining a high standard of life and scholarship. Its purpose is to promote the growth in the students of character, and power, and loyalty to the best interests of the College.

THE COLORADO COLLEGE CLASSICAL CLUB

Linguae Mortuae, Sodalitas Vivax!

The Colorado College Classical Club is an organization of present and former students of Greek and Latin in Colorado College whose purpose is to stimulate interest in the Greek and Latin language and literatures and to promote a wider knowledge of the general field of classics.

Meetings are held once every two weeks at which programs are presented by members of the society. The executive committee, which exercises general control over the affairs of the club, consists of the officers, the faculty of the Classical Department, and one member at large, elected by the club.

The plans of the Classical Club for the current year include the presentation of a Latin play at some time during the second semester.

The charter members of the Classical Club are: Dorothy Carnine, Alexander Chapman, Margarete Coleman, Marie Colman, Marjorie Collier, Evangeline Dascomb, John Duniway, Mildred Earnest, Edith Farnsworth, Agnes Flanagan, Eada Gilberg, Ora Jean Gjerde, Florence Green, May Green, L. M. Hardee, Joan

THE DAIS

The Ancient Order of the Dais was founded in the fall of 1908. The first officers of this organization included the Master, Summoner, Clerk, Franklin, Almoner, Baillie and Jester. The roll contained the remaining members.

In 1910 the name Headmaster was used, and in 1911 Headmaster was changed to High Mogul, the other officers being the same. Names such as "The Lord High Provider of Cake," and "The Lord High Inspector of Movies," were added to the above mentioned officers during 1916-17. The 1918 Dais members called themselves "The C. C. Highlanders," and had names suited to this title. In 1920 the Dais elected a president and treasurer, and used as their title, "It Pays to Advertise." Each member was designated by a common advertising slogan, as "Say it with Flowers." The 1921 Dais was known as "The Reader's Guide," and each member was named after a current magazine.

The 1922 Dais elected a president and treasurer. Three new members, Adelaide Brown, Dorothy Kinney and Miss Merrill, were initiated the first of this year.

The Dais members sit at a long table in the front of Bemis Dining Room. This table is placed on a platform, which is raised a step from the rest of the room, hence the name Dais. The Dais color is bronze and its symbol is the oak. The purpose of this organization is purely social.

LA SOCIEDAD ESPANOLA

The Spanish Club was organized in 1918 under the name of "La Sociedad Espanola," by Mrs. Florence Bartlett, with herself as president, Mr. Fraker as vice-president, and Marjorie Davis as secretary-treasurer. This organization met every other Thursday night, welcoming to its circles all those interested in Spanish. At each meeting Spanish games were played, Spanish songs sung to the accompaniment of guitars, and Spanish anecdotes were told. Their big event of the year was an open house at which a playlet was presented with the following cast, Josephine Miller, the Senorita; Mr. Sabin, the Senor; Irena Hamilton, the maid and Mr. Fraker, the papa.

In 1920-21 Paul McConnell was president, Martha Howbert vice-president, Leta Gale, secretary, Josephine Miller treasurer. The society was especially fortunate that year in having several members who had travelled through South America, Mexico and other Spanish-speaking countries. During the year these members gave many interesting talks on their experiences among the Spanish peoples. Mr. Skidmore entertained the club at his home once during the year.

The purposes of the Spanish Club are to afford the members an opportunity of conversing in Spanish, and to acquaint them with the literature, art and music and customs of the Spanish peoples.

THE GIRLS' DRAMATIC CLUB

The Girls' Dramatic Club of Colorado College was organized in 1907. Miss Ruth Aitken was its first president. Little was done the first year except to lay the foundation, but the second year found a good start, made under Miss Carrie Davis, the second president.

Added impetus was given in 1909 when the Club was reorganized through the efforts of the Student Government Association. Two very interesting farces by Howell, "The Sleeping Car" and "The Mouse Trap" were given that year.

From that time forward there has been a steady growth in the Club and a steady increasing activity. The policy has always been to give as many girls as possible opportunity to participate in the affairs of the organization. All girls, whether they possess dramatic talent or not, are permitted to become members upon payment of dues. This system does away with the necessity for "trying out," and the danger of partiality in judging.

The function play has come to be one of the customs of the club. All members of the club are permitted to invite a guest to this play. With the exception of "Eager Heart," the Christmas play, to which members of the faculty and the senior men are invited, this is the only performance which non-members may attend. The club gives a one-act play each month for members only. All plays are coached by students.

THE PEARSONS DRAMATIC CLUB

The Pearsons Literary Society was organized in the fall of 1900 and rapidly became one of the leading organizations on the campus. The outstanding features of the society were first its annual function, quite the big social event of the year, and second the regularity with which it won its debates with the rival society, the Apollonians. The motto was "Unity-Push."

In its original inception the society was purely a literary club, but gradually became a more social and progressive organization. In a few years a minstrel was attempted with so much success that it became a yearly custom. This custom was kept up until 1917, when the war took most of its members and the society was disbanded.

Under the capable hands of Prof. Motten, the club was reorganized in 1920 and took the name of Pearsons Dramatic Club. This same year the College obtained a chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, the national dramatic fraternity, and the officers were the same as for the club.

The following year the organizations separated and Pearsons became as it is now, a training field for the national fraternity.

Pearsons has given several plays this year and will continue to do so for some time. The membership is not large and is maintained by tryouts which are held twice each year at the beginning of the semesters.

THE INDEPENDENT CLUB

The Independent Club is an organization of the non-fraternity men on the campus and is the oldest organization on the campus. Last year "Mud" Clay with his ever increasing desire to promote something, gathered a few of his clan around him. They then appointed a committee to draw up a constitution and to give the club a name. They decided on the Independent Club, to take the place of the "Barbs" "C. C. Social Club," "Scuds," and several other names.

They entered a team in the sunrise league and finished close to the top. Their other activity that year was a stag banquet at the Broadmoor Hotel.

On returning to school this year they decided that they should have functions like the other men's organizations. They held a Christmas function at the San Luis School which was conceded to be one of the best functions given that night. At their next weekly meeting they decided to have something to do every function night. At the present time they are planning a dinner dance at the Broadmoor for the next semester.

The club sees a great future before it and they have decided the only way to keep interest in the club is to have meetings every Monday night, and to always be looking ahead to some activity. None of its rituals are secret and the Club is open to all students of Colorado College.

THE INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Inter-Fraternity Council, organized in 1909, is an inter-fraternity group consisting of two members from each fraternity on the campus and two members of the faculty, one of whom is President of the Council. The undergraduate members are elected by their respective fraternities as juniors and serve for two years; the faculty representatives are elected annually by each incoming council.

The object of the Inter-Fraternity Council, as stated in its constitution, is "to promote the unity, scholarship and general welfare of the college through the discussion and regulation of fraternity matters." To this end regular meetings are held on the first Monday of each month of the college year.

In 1920 the local fraternities of Colorado College were for the first time accorded representation in the council and admitted to all its privileges on an equal footing with the chapters of the National Fraternities.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI

Alpha Kappa Psi is a professional business fraternity. It is not a social fraternity, nor is it an honorary scholarship fraternity although both these phases are considered in the selection of men for membership. Its stated purposes are: To promote the individual welfare of its members; to foster scientific research in the fields of commerce, accounts and finance; to educate the public to appreciate and demand higher ideals therein and to promote and advance in institutions of collegiate rank, courses leading to degrees in business administration.

Alpha Kappa Psi was founded at New York University in 1904. The chapter at Colorado College received its charter in 1919 and is known as Sigma Chapter. There are now twenty six chapters located in all parts of the United States.

The local chapter holds monthly dinner meetings at which time some expert along some line of business addresses the members. Some of the speakers for this year were: Clarence P. Dodge, Gov. Oliver H. Shoup, Robert D. Sims, Arthur Perkins.

For mock initiation the Alpha Kappa Psi pledges present a one act playlet in Chapel. It is one of the annual events of the college year and is further treated in the "Events" section.

PHI BETA KAPPA SOCIETY

The Phi Beta Kappa Society, the oldest American Greek letter fraternity, was founded at William and Mary College in Virginia in the days of the Revolution, December 5, 1776. Though not originally intended as a society of scholars, it has always fostered a love of wisdom and sound learning, and the cardinal principles of the philosophy which its founders took as their guide of life are Fraternity, Morality and Literature.

It numbers among its members such men as John Quincy Adams, James Garfield, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson. By their eloquence Daniel Webster and Phillip Brooks have shed and added lustre upon its honorable past. Poets and men of letters too—Bryant, Emerson, Hawthorne, Holmes, Longfellow and Lowell—are in its cherished hall of fame.

Chapters of the society were formed at Yale and Harvard as early as 1781, and after that at Dartmouth, Union and Bowdoin. At present there are 93 chapters in the United States.

The Colorado College chapter—Beta of Colorado—was the fifty-ninth to be organized and secured its charter from the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa on December 7, 1904.

The Colorado College chapter elects each year one-seventh of the members of the graduating class less two, primarily on the basis of scholarship. To this number are added two members of the junior class.

KAPPA BETA PHI

College communities are often unfair. The shark has been caressed by his professors and envied by his classmates. He has been the recipient of scholarships, honor awards, and other rewards for superior gray matter, while the faithful and industrious bonehead has been allowed to pursue his thorny way thru a wilderness of mathematics, French and economics without so much as a smile; when after the fourth attempt he manages to secure a passing grade in mathematics and secure a diploma, he enters a world where men are no longer ranked by an unnatural ability to recite the family history of a Spanish verb from the days of Le Cid.

Not the least of the indignities heaped upon the bonehead is the sight of a golden key dangling from its owner's watch fob or brazenly displayed on her chest as if to say, "I have brains. Don't waste my time." But even the worm will turn and so Kappa Beta Phi and Beta Kappa Phi came into existence. Kappa Beta Phi was originated some years ago and was composed of men who failed of election to Phi Beta Kappa.

Beta Kappa Phi was founded in 1910 and was the organization of the women corresponding to Kappa Beta Phi which was entirely made up of men. For the last four years Beta Kappa Phi has been dormant but Kappa Beta Phi has never lost an ounce of vigor and is going strong even at this late date.

The purpose of the organization is to stimulate interest in scientific research and achievement. Membership is limited to the teaching staff and to students doing major work in the departments of Biology, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Geology and Psychology.

Requirements for membership include a balanced course in which creditable records must be made and evidence of exceptional ability in the major subject.

THETA ALPHA PHI

Theta Alpha Phi is a national dramatic fraternity, having been established at Oklahoma A. & M. College in 1920. Colorado College received her charter in Feb. 1920, and was the eleventh college admitted to membership. There are now twenty-eight chapters in the United States which reach from Connecticut to California and from Wisconsin to Florida. The object of the fraternity is to stimulate a general interest in play production and to raise dramatics to a higher plane in the list of college activities.

At the beginning of this college year only two members were left on the campus, W. D. Copeland and Harry F. Taylor. In October seven others were pledged three men and four women. Initiation was held in Cogswell Theater, followed by a dinner in Bemis Hall and coffee in Miss Phinney's parlor. In the evening the fraternity saw John E. Kellary in "The Merchant of Venice."

On February tenth the Misses Gertrude Sherk and Frances Tucker and Mr. Elwood Amos were pledged. "The Only Girl," a play with music, has been selected for the annual play. This will be presented at the Burns Theatre under the direction of Mr. E. Benson Sargent and the management of the Community Dramatic Workshop.

TAU KAPPA ALPHA

National Honorary Forensic Fraternity.

• Tau Kappa Alpha is one of the few fraternities on the campus that signifies actual achievement. Membership is limited to those who have represented the college in an intercollegiate debate or oratorical contest. In addition to this national prerequisite, the local chapter imposes certain other qualifications of character, ability and leadership. For this reason Tau Kappa Alpha is necessarily a small and limited organization. Due to the fact that membership is actually always given to upper classmen only, the fraternity has few members during the first of the year and hence activities are limited.

Tau Kappa Alpha was founded at Indianapolis, May 13, 1908. The fraternity has advanced rapidly, until at the present time there are fifty-two active chapters in the leading colleges and universities all over the country. Chapters are located at Harvard, Purdue, Ohio, Columbia, Utah, Washington, and Indiana Universities and at many other foremost institutions of higher learning.

Colorado Chapter was organized at Colorado College in 1916, largely through the efforts of Professor Motten. At the present time it is composed of the following members: Elwood Amos, Jack Dern, Charles Kimble, Robert McIlvaine, Frank Mahan, and Ben Wendelken from the student body, and William Copeland, Professor Pattee, and Professor Swart from the faculty. Ben Wendelken was elected president of the organization and Frank Mahan was appointed manager of debating.

The badge of the fraternity is a gold watch key. It is in the form of a scroll, and displays the letters of the fraternity within a wreath.

How About It?

A very regrettable thing happened last Saturday afternoon between halves of the Aggies-Tigers game, when a certain former student of Colorado College by the name of Earl Cooley, lieutenant-governor of the State of Colorado, came into the dressing room of the Tiger squad at the most critical time of the conflict, just after the Aggies had scored a touchdown due to hard luck and uneven breaks for the Tigers, and proceeded so it is alleged, to give them one awful bawling out telling them that they were yellow and that if he couldn't play football better than they did he would quit, and that he had a twelve year old daughter who could play football a lot better than the Tigers. This was at a critical time, the Tigers were crippled from the game with Utah, and were fighting a heavy, stronger team who were at their strongest offense and defense since the opening of the football season. What they needed was encouragement, to go back out on the field in the last half and beat the Aggies. As it was they went back out on the field

THE REASON WHY

With this issue the Spot Light makes its first appearance on the campus of Colorado College. The editors of the Spot Light expect to portray the life of the students, alumni, faculty and administration of the Colorado College exactly and accurately as it happens both in College life and outside.

It shall be the policy of the Spot Light to know no sex, religion, organization, politics, or creed. Regardless of your influence or who you are or your position in college or what you do you will be subject to the criticism or praise of the Spot Light, as the case may be. The Spot Light shall be absolutely impartial in its dealing with all those who fall under our rays. This is just a word of warning.

College Spirit

Alice Sweet, Frances Tucker, Mal Graham, and Mal MacDougal should be congratulated on the way the college dance was handled. It was a wonderful affair from the standpoint of a crowd, but that's all we could say for it. How many girls stood along the walls all evening with not even one dance. How many boys stood in the doorway eyeing the girls and wishing an introduction! There was no attempt made at acquaintance; those who were on the committee were so engrossed in tripping the light fantastic that they cared little about the good time the others were not having. As an all-College function, the "all" should be stricken off. It was a poor social affair, and not representative of the college spirit, but of little groups and cliques who held themselves apart from others. It was a farce. Let us hope that the next all-College dance will be more of a success.

A little over three hours was all the men's systematically lighted?

¶ It is a technical question, but a practical one, too. Proper lighting is an asset to health and happiness.

¶ And the light company, thru Prof. R. R. Tileston of Colorado College offers you just such information. In building a new house, in remodeling an old one, at home or in your store you want lighting that is technically right.

¶ Prof. Tileston is at your service without cost to you. It is one of the scores of things your light company offers you as a service that goes with the electricity and the gas you buy.

Men and Women Need Business Training

EVERY man is compelled by circumstances to take part in business—and it is becoming true that every woman must know something about business to maintain her proper place in woman's sphere. Thousands of young men and young women are attending accredited Commercial Schools in order that they may learn Stenography, Accountancy and Banking, or to prepare for Commercial Teaching or Secretarial positions, in which fields there is always a scarcity of competent applicants. THE CENTRAL COMMERCIAL COLLEGE, now in its thirty-fifth year, offers thorough training in all these courses. THE AMERICAN BUSINESS COLLEGE, PUEBLO, COLO., located in one of the liveliest, most progressive cities of the West, supplies business trained young people to firms in various cities over a wide radius. It has twice as many calls for graduates as it is able to fill. Its graduates are so trained that they are not required to remain stenographers, bookkeepers, etc.

They meet with promotion after promotion, and scores of business executives, department heads, high salaried secretaries and accountants can look back to American Business College as the very starting point of their careers.

In this school you are trained in secretarial, stenographic, bookkeeping and accountancy work; you are made ready for positions in business and in the Civil Service that pay you a better salary and give you a splendid chance for advancement.

Interested young men and young women are invited to write for Catalogue "C," which gives complete information concerning our Business Training Courses. Address

A Colorado Springs Product

SAVALL not only prolongs the wear of SHOE SOLES and HEELS, but it WATERPROOFS them.

SAVALL is a liquid preparation, to be painted on the SOLES and HEELS. It dries quickly, so that when applied at night the SHOES can be worn the next morning.

SAVALL users rarely find it necessary to have their SHOES re-soled. The SOLES last as long as the UPPERS.

The result of using SAVALL on CHEAP SHOES is nothing less than MARVELOUS. Try it and be convinced. IT IS EASY TO APPLY.

EVERY USER IS A BOOSTER.

---

The SAVALL COMPANY offers an excellent opportunity to College Students to earn their way thru school if they have from two to four hours a day spare time, and will follow our directions. The SUMMER VACATION is a good time to start.

The Stenographer's Opportunity

The number of railroad and bank officials, editors, lawyers, and influential men in every line of business who have risen from the ranks of shorthand writers is becoming larger every year.

The reason for this is evident. The stenographer writes letters which deal with the most important projects, as well as with the minutest details of the business of his employer.

*His opportunities are well explained by the following comment:
"If young people could understand what it means to associate with tactful and successful business men, to take their dictation, to think as they think, to work, to invent, to plan, to execute, in complete accord with that which is brightest and best in business life, they would not hesitate to study shorthand."*

Many College students attend our summer school for shorthand and book-keeping courses.

GLOCKNER SANATORIUM AND HOSPITAL

TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES—Nursing is an ideal profession for women, and the Glockner Training School for Nurses furnishes all the essentials for the most thorough and modern training for professional nursing. In order that the nurses of the desired calibre be provided for the community, citizens are invited to refer well-qualified young women to the Sisters whenever interest in this noble work may be shown.

THE GLOCKNER TRAINING SCHOOL—The Glockner Sanatorium and Hospital Training School for Nurses is recognized as a Class "A" school. It offers a full three years course covering all the branches of nursing, and its diplomas are accepted by all State boards.

Theoretical class instruction is given through lectures by nationally-recognized physicians—each a specialist in the subject treated.

Practical bedside experience and training under the supervision of a registered graduate nurse, insures harmonious and synchronized education so essential in the highest type of nurse.

THE MEDICAL STAFF—The Medical Staff of Glockner is composed of prominent physicians of Colorado Springs—each a specialist in recognized attainments, and some known nationally for their achievements.

The physicians and their associates conduct the lecture work of each class in the school, and counsel with the Sisters in the practical details of training.
